Soviet Blocks West Disarm Plan

GI States He, Not Girard, Tossed Out Shell Casings

Jap Officer Bares New Testimony

Japan Indictment Cites Only Girard In Woman's Death

MAEBASHI, Japan (U)—A Japanese police officer said today a Michigan soldier has told Japanese authorities that he—not Specialist C.C. William Girard—tossed empty shell casings onto a U.S. army range before a Japanese woman scrap collector was shot and killed Jan. 30.

The officer, who would not be quoted by name or rank, said the statement of Specialist C.C. Victor Nickel of Inkster, Mich., that he scattered the empty shells "at Girard's suggestion" has been included in a secret police file on the shooting.

Japanese court officials said it was not among court records in the case, in which Girard has been charged with "inflicting bodily injury resulting in death." Conviction could carry a sentence of up to 15 years in a Japanese prison.

Silks Protest

The U. S. decision to turn Girard over to Japan for trial has stirred a storm of protest in the United States and court action seeking to return Girard there.

U.S. army officials in Tokyo refused to discuss reports that Army investigators had secured a new statement from Nickel within the past few days and forwarded it to Washington.

The Japanese indictment against Girard accuses him of "voluntarily emptying shell casings to entice Japanese scrap collectors closer and then twice firing empty shell casings in their direction from a grenade launcher attached to his rifle. The second struck Mrs. Naka Sakai, 46, in the back. She died almost instantly."

Denies Charge

Girard has repeatedly denied he scattered any empty shells in the area.

A Japanese scrap collector at the range said today it was "usual" for American soldiers to toss used cartridge cases to the waiting collectors.

The Army said Nickel has been restricted to his camp at his own request to avoid reporters. His mother said he had written her: "Now I am an associate to the fact and am facing a court-martial."

Catholics Get New Warning

NEW YORK (U)—Roman Catholics are being warned again about attending evangelist Billy Graham's crusade in Madison Square Garden.

The warning—the second in seven weeks—came from the Rev. Richard Ginder, editor of "Our Sunday Visitor," a national Catholic weekly.

Father Ginder said some Catholics had mistakenly taken the view that their Church had given Graham's preaching "a mild sort of approval."

To correct such assumptions, he is publishing an editorial on the subject in next Sunday's issue of the church publication saying: "We are tolerant and friendly to Billy Graham and company just as we are to the Lutherans, Presbyterians and Jehovah's Witnesses."

"However, our tolerance and friendliness exist only at the social and civil level. It stops dead where religion enters in."

Far East Army Command Pressure Cited By Girard

OTTAWA, Ill. (U)—William S. Girard has told his older brother in two separate transcribed telephone talks that the Army Far East Command "is putting pressure" on him.

William, 21-year-old Army specialist third class scheduled to be tried in Japanese courts in the shooting of a Japanese woman, conferred last night and early today with his brother Louis, 28, an Ottawa garage mechanic.

In both conversations, tape-recorded at Ottawa radio station WCMY, William spoke of Army "pressures" in response to questions asked by Louis. The first talk last night was marred by

Nixon, Negro Pastor Study Racial Issues

Vice President May Take Major Role In Civil Rights Maneuver

WASHINGTON (U)—Amid indications he may play a leading role in Senate maneuvering over civil rights, Vice President Nixon discusses racial problems today with a Montgomery, Ala., Negro pastor.

Nixon, as the Senate's presiding officer, is in a strategic position to help or hinder a reported effort to bypass the Senate Judiciary Committee with a civil rights bill the House may pass tomorrow. The Senate's own bill now is tied up in that committee.

The House, meantime, resumes debate on its bill after a one-day layoff, with a states rights fight in prospect. House leaders were working toward a final vote by tomorrow, but were said to be prepared for a Saturday session if necessary to finish action this week.

The Rev. Martin Luther King, a leader in Montgomery Negroes' long boycott of buses in that city, reports to Nixon on conditions in the South as he sees them.

King's conference with Nixon grew out of conversations they held in Ghana on the vice president's African trip last March. King had invited Nixon to visit the South to study what the Negro pastor called "the extent of violence" there so that Nixon might report to President Eisenhower.

Southern senators planned a caucus on what they can do in case a Nixon ruling is called for on routing the House civil rights bill.

Soviet Satellite Details Awaited

WASHINGTON (INS)—U. S. scientists expect the Soviet Union this week end to give the first public details of a Russian space satellite that will be bigger, better and launched ahead of the U. S. man-made moon.

The details are also expected to be the first tip-off that the Soviet Union may be ahead of the U. S. in the race for an intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM).

'Off-Course' U.S. Aircraft Hit By Reds

Navy Terms Slight Damage To Plane Isolated Incident

WASHINGTON (U)—Navy officials described as an isolated incident today the shots fired by a Communist Chinese shore battery at an American plane which they said apparently strayed off course and was damaged slightly.

They expressed the opinion, based on early dispatches, that the incident is not likely to produce any significant military repercussions.

The Navy announced yesterday that the plane, flying from the carrier Hornet, was "fired on and slightly damaged by Communist Chinese anti-aircraft" in the area of the Formosa Strait.

West Of Position

"It appears that the aircraft concerned was to the westward of its plotted position, being about eight miles off the coast when it was fired on," the Navy announcement added. It said the plane, otherwise unidentified, was on a routine training flight at the time, and returned quickly to the carrier.

First word of the incident came from Peiping radio, which said in a broadcast heard in London that the Hornet and four destroyers, sailing from Hong Kong, "invaded" part of the South China Sea within the territorial waters of China."

Intruded Swatow Area The Red Chinese version said planes taking off from the carrier "intruded into the Swatow area."

Without saying where they came from, the Communists said four Nationalist Chinese planes joined the American planes, and two of them were shot down. The U.S. Navy announcement made no mention of Nationalist Chinese planes.

The Nationalist air force on Formosa termed the Peiping claim groundless. It said Nationalist planes on a routine patrol over the Formosa Strait encountered "ineffectual" ground fire off Swatow, and all planes returned to base safely.

Navy officials here said that the incident could result in diplomatic representations—the Chinese charging a violation of their air space and the United States countering with a protest against an unprovoked attack on an American aircraft.

Mayflower Sails To Site Of First Pilgrim Landing

PLYMOUTH, Mass. (U)—Mayflower II, replica of the original Pilgrim ship, ended her long voyage from Plymouth, England, today.

She entered the harbor shortly after 11 a.m. towed by a Coast Guard craft and surrounded by a big fleet of yachts and other small craft.

Her skipper, famed windjammer master Alan Villiers, had luried sails just outside the harbor before attempting the narrow channel up to the mooring basin prepared for Mayflower off his native Plymouth Rock.

Church bells pealed a welcome as the 92-foot bark appeared around Gurnet Light, marking the harbor entrance.

Mayflower's arrival marked the end of a 5,000-mile, 54-day voyage reenacting the historic trip of the Pilgrims in 1620.

Stassen Due To 'Ease Up' Disarm Talks

Returns To London; U. S. Fears Parleys With Zorin Too Fast

WASHINGTON (U)—Harold E. Stassen, chief U. S. disarmament negotiator, leaves for London today to resume lagging talks with America's allies and Russia on initial moves for ending the atomic arms race.

It was reported to be under instruction from Secretary of State Dulles to limit carefully his private talks with Soviet Delegate Valerian Zorin. The instructions are a result of Allied complaints and State Department fear that Stassen was going too fast in his direct discussions with the Russian representative.

Other members of the five-power United Nations Disarmament subcommittee are Britain, France and Canada. Stassen has also been conferring with representatives of the other North Atlantic Treaty powers.

New Disarm Proposals

The object of the conferences has been to reach an understanding on new disarmament proposals which the United States intends to present to Russia for a "first-step" agreement.

In general, the plan proposes to reduce the size of conventional forces, set up at least one aerial inspection zone in the Arctic and possibly put a halt to the manufacture of atomic weapons.

Hinge On Russ Acceptance If Russia would accept a proposed agreement to end the manufacture of fissionable material for weapons and begin diverting all production to peaceful uses of atomic energy, the United States, it is reported, would be prepared to limit the testing of atomic weapons as an initial move toward eventually ending tests.

Dulles told a news conference yesterday that the disarmament talks with the Allies had developed "procedural complications" in relations to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Stocks Nudge Ahead

NEW YORK (U)—The stock market, bobbing at the crest of its latest 1957 high, nudged ahead slightly in early trading today.

Experiment Rays Blamed

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (U)—A lawyer claimed today that at least a dozen soldiers who worked on a top-secret wartime experiment are either sterile or have fathered deformed children as a result.

Atty. Raymond Lyddy represents four Connecticut soldiers. One of them is sterile, Lyddy says. Wives of the others have had six miscarriages, three deformed children and two apparently normal children.

He said the 100 or so members of the tank ordinance company which worked on the project were warned that exposure to rays from the equipment could make them sterile. He said he only had information on about 30 of the soldiers, but about half of those reported some trouble.

Men Either Sterile Or Father Deformed Tots

He said "the instances of sterility, malformations and deformed children were just tremendous."

The New York Daily News, which first reported the story in a copyrighted dispatch from Washington, said Army Secretary Wilber Brucker has been asked to make a full investigation. The request came from the former company commander, Marshal White of Chicago.

The News said the experiment consisted of mounting brilliant lights on tanks to blind gunners. The operation was carried out in the 9th Armored Division, which was fighting along the Rhine.

About 455 of the tanks were sent into action, the News said, but corn was steady to weak.

Ike Recovery Said Complete

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower was pronounced "completely recovered" today from his stomach upset.

Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder, White House physician, had held off using the expression until he was certain there were no lingering effects of the attack of indigestion suffered by Mr. Eisenhower last Sunday night.

The President had a busy schedule today, including a morning meeting with the National Security Council.

Vessels Of 18 Nations Close Proud Exhibit

NORFOLK, Va. (U)—Ships of the United States and 17 foreign nations broke formation today after a proud international review display that represented perhaps a final fling of military grandeur for many of them.

From the precise anchorage stations that strung them out along a double column 14 miles long they moved to close shoreward moorings.

But in steaming toward a precarious future in the military picture they won a round of applause from Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations.

"They're old, yes, and you might say obsolete," said Burke from his review station aboard the tactical command cruiser Northampton. "But if need be, they will still sweep a mine for you or sink a submarine. It's just a harder job with the older equipment."

Secretary of the Navy Gates, who scanned the display from the missile cruiser Boston, gazed at the battleships Wisconsin and Iowa at the head of the column and said "I don't think you'll see a battleship in another naval review."

Deactivation of the Wisconsin will begin in November and the Iowa will leave the line next year, Gates disclosed. When these two are shelved, the Navy will be left without a single battleship in active service.

Navy Projectile Hits Earth Near Children, Homes

ERICA, Va. (U)—A huge projectile, fired from the Dahlgren Naval Proving Ground, dived to earth near a community of summer cottages yesterday 50 yards from a group of children. No one was hurt.

The projectile, believed to be a non-explosive shell, apparently missed its Potomac River island target. It also missed a cottage by several yards, landed in the backyard and hurrowed out a hole in a hole more than 10 feet wide.

Five children were playing about 50 yards away when the object hit with a noise described as tremendous.

"I've never heard such a noise," said Mrs. J. P. Gunter of Ben Air, the only person in the family cottage. "It spun me around."

The Gunter cottage is in a cluster of 14.

House Group Trims Public Works Funds

Last Of 12 Regular Bills Sent Up For Action By Committee

WASHINGTON (U)—The last of 12 regular appropriation bills was sent to the House today by its Appropriations Committee, which boosted to about $4,040,000,000 total cuts it has recommended this year in presidential money requests.

The bill allots $314,813,021 to finance government public works programs during the fiscal year starting July 1, a reduction of $61,639,977 from the amount President Eisenhower requested.

As it has on the past 11 bills, the House is expected to follow closely the committee's recommendations. Not all of the House passed measures have been passed by the Senate, but that body has adhered generally to House figures on bills it has considered.

The goal of congressional budget-cutters this session is to cut close to five billion dollars from the President's overall money requests totaling $73,300,000,000.

The bill approved by the committee today provides funds for the Army Engineers' river and harbor and flood control programs, the Reclamation Bureau, the Bonneville Power Administration, the Southeastern Power Administration and the Southwestern Power Administration.

Its total is $52,521,977 less than Congress voted for the same purposes this year.

The largest allotment of new funds, $619,325,023, was for water resources programs.

George Condition Reported Serious

ATLANTA (U)—Walter F. George, President Eisenhower's special ambassador to NATO and a former Georgia senator, is in serious condition with a coronary disease at Emory University Hospital.

Stolen Stocks, Bonds Found On Plot Owned By Godfrey

MIAMI, Fla. (U)—An ocean-front plot owned by television star Arthur Godfrey has yielded slightly more than $100,000 in stolen stocks and bonds.

Police said yesterday they had found $75,825 in war savings certificates and more than $25,000 in utility stocks buried in a steel box 200 yards north of the Kinilworth Hotel, of which Godfrey also is part owner.

Questioning of three men who recently pleaded guilty to house burglary charges in Mobile, Ala., led to recovery of the loot, said Sgt. Lee Graham of the North Miami police force.

The securities were stolen Feb. 5 from the home of John W. Marks, retired Coast Guard commander, in North Miami.

Graham identified the men as James Murray, 24, Brockton, Mass.; Eugene Pollard, 21, Miami; and Albert W. Ogle, 20, formerly of Hialeah, Fla. Murray and Pollard will be sentenced Monday on the burglary charges. Ogle will be sentenced a week later.

Graham said Ogle apparently had no connection with the Miami case, but that Murray admitted having stolen jewelry and "a lot of bonds in Miami."

Murray also is wanted in New Bedford, Mass., for a $2,000 safe-cracking job, Mobile police said.

Would Okeh Check Posts For A-Bomb

Inspection Stations In U. S., Britain Also Would Speed Up Ban

HELSINKI (U)—Nikita Khrushchev today rejected Western proposals for control of disarmament and nuclear weapon production as a "screen to mask plans to continue the arms race."

However, the Soviet Communist party boss told a two-hour news conference the Soviet Union would agree to the establishment of international inspection posts in the Soviet Union, the United States, Britain and other countries if this would facilitate agreement on the banning of nuclear tests.

Khrushchev's remarks, made in answer to a reporter's questions, indicated a stiffening of the Soviet attitude of disarmament. Western delegates to the current negotiations in London of the U.N. Disarmament subcommittee had indicated that the Russians there were showing signs of wanting to reach at least a limited agreement with the West.

Old Proposal

The Russian proposal for inspection posts is an old one, first put forward by the Soviets May 10, 1955, at the disarmament negotiations. The Russians proposed that international inspection teams be stationed at key ports, airports and road and rail junctions to check on movement of troops and military supplies.

Three months later Harold Stassen, the U.S. delegate to the arms talks, told newsmen that all five nations on the subcommittee—the United States, Russia, Britain, France and Canada—had agreed on ground inspection as a necessary part of disarmament.

Control Not Solution Khrushchev told the news conference, which he held with Premier Bulganin, that "no system of control can solve the problem of disarmament because it cannot prevent any state from planning aggression if it wants to."

The party chief said the problem of disarmament could be solved only through confidence and trust, particularly among the great powers.

He said despite the present lack of international confidence, the problem of banning nuclear tests can be settled immediately.

"If such an agreement would be facilitated by the establishment of inspection posts in the Soviet Union, the United States, Britain and other countries, we would agree to that," he declared.

Khrushchev and Bulganin met the press just before boarding a special train for Moscow after a week-long barnstorming tour of Finland.

"The Girard case is an unfortunate one," Kishi told a group of American news correspondents at a press conference in connection with his impending trip to Washington.

"I have not actually intended to take the Girard case up in Washington. I feel that the decision of the joint U.S.-Japan committee, made after careful study, was a fair one," Kishi said.

"When the people of the United States realize that Japanese courts are fair, and that the procedures of the joint committee were fair, the problem will be solved."

The joint committee, after a long investigation, agreed to Japan's claim that its courts should try Girard for the fatal shooting of a Japanese woman collecting scrap on a military firing range last January.

Graham identified the men as James Murray, 24, Brockton, Mass.; Eugene Pollard, 21, Miami; and Albert W. Ogle, 20, formerly of Hialeah, Fla. Murray and Pollard will be sentenced Monday on the burglary charges. Ogle will be sentenced a week later.

Murray also is wanted in New Bedford, Mass., for a $2,000 safe-cracking job, Mobile police said.

French Vote Needs Bicycle Built For Two

Bourges-Maunory, Napped By Resigned, Reluctant Assembly

By JOSEPH E. DYMAN
PARIS (AP) — A resigned, reluctant National Assembly early today confirmed Maurice Bourges-Maunory as France's 22nd post-war premier by a majority of less than 50 votes. The action ended a three-week Cabinet crisis.

Both the preballot debate and the 240-194 vote itself reflected the Assembly's lack of enthusiasm. Seventy-three deputies abstained.

Bourges-Maunory fell 58 votes short of an absolute majority of the Assembly's 595 members. But only a majority of those voting was needed to install him.

Bourges-Maunory's program on which he took office virtually duplicates that of his predecessor, Socialist Guy Mollet. The new Cabinet chief, who was Mollet's defense minister, promised the Assembly continued vigorous military action against the Algerian rebels, limited political reforms in the rebellious North African territory, new taxes and fewer imports to rebuild France's almost-gone stock of foreign exchange.

The new Premier got the support of all but eight members of his own Radical Socialist party, a middle road group. He also was backed by the Socialists and most of the conservative Independent Republicans.

Opposing him were the Communists, the extreme right-wing Poujadists and the Assembly's lone wolf, former Premier Pierre Mendes-France. The other parties abstained.

Reds Admit Liquidation Of 800,000

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said today that Mao Tse-tung has admitted 800,000 persons were "liquidated" by Chinese Communist security forces between October 1949 and the beginning of 1954.

A Times dispatch from Warsaw said Red China's top leader disclosed that figure in his much-discussed speech to party leaders in Peking last February.

The text of Mao's speech has not been published, but a condensed version has been circulated among Polish Communists and parts of it previously have been reported by Western correspondents in Warsaw.

Includes New Theory

The latter included Mao's new Marxist theory that contradictions exist not only in the ranks of the masses but also between the masses and the party. This represented a departure from Soviet doctrine which long has held that conflicts between the rulers and the ruled existed only under capitalism and vanished in a Communist society.

The Times dispatch, which said textual excerpts of Mao's speech now have been obtained, reported that other main points made by the Red leader included:

Stalin's failure to understand that contradictions, including those between the leaders and the people, exist under communism led to a rule of terror and the liquidation of thousands of Communists.

Necessary To Use Force

"In dealing with enemies it is necessary to use force," Mao said. "We in China also have used force to deal with enemies of the people. The total number of those who were liquidated by our security forces numbers 800,000. This is the figure up to 1954."

"Since then we are no longer using methods of terror. Instead we have substituted persuasion and education. If one persists in solving internal antagonisms, it may lead to transformation of these antagonisms into antagonisms of the nation-enemy type, as happened in Hungary."

The Times said the 800,000 figure given by Mao was believed to include mainly opponents of the regime killed in civil warfare after 1949, as well as persons executed on charges of spying and counter-revolution.

Asked about the Hungarian rebellion, the report said Mao replied:

"The Hungarian party was weak because it stressed the methods of repression instead of persuasion. The weakness of the party came out during the tragedy of October when the party simply disappeared in a matter of a few days. The use of Soviet force was necessary because there was fear that the disintegration would not be confined to the party alone but to the whole state, though it is regrettable that the situation made such an intervention necessary."

Mass For Jimmy Dorsey To Be Held Saturday

NEW YORK (AP) — A Requiem Mass will be said at St. Patrick's Cathedral Saturday at 10 a.m. for bandleader Jimmy Dorsey, who died yesterday of lung cancer.

The public will be permitted to view Dorsey's body at a funeral home from 2 p.m. today to midnight tomorrow.

By The Associated Press

June's steady brand of wet weather showed no change today after a nother day of storms pounded areas in the mid-continent.

The violent weather yesterday and during the night extended from Texas to Iowa. Funnell clouds were sighted in parts of Texas, Missouri, South Dakota, eastern Kansas and southwestern Iowa. Heavy rain and hail drenched many sections, with strong winds, flooding areas in the middle and lower Mississippi Valley.

More than 3 1/2 inches of rain doused Shreveport, La., in a six-hour period. Wind gusts were clocked at more than 50 m.p.h.

There was an obvious reason for that.

The joint statement had said, "Dulles and Wilson 'carefully reviewed all the available facts in the case' and added: 'They have now concluded' the decision to turn over Girard was all right."

Dulles begged off. He swore in an affidavit filed with the court that it would be useless for him to testify because he had no "personal knowledge whatsoever" of events leading up to Girard's detention for trial or keep him in custody. The decision to let the Japanese have him was made by the Defense Department, Dulles later approved.

Girard had shot the woman in the back with an empty cartridge case—he says he didn't mean to hit her and only intended to scare her away—while she was picking up empty shells on a firing range to sell for scrap.

U. S. Claims Jurisdiction

This happened Jan. 20. Under a four-year old agreement with Japan on whether Japan or the United States could claim jurisdiction over a soldier in a case like that, this country claimed jurisdiction.

The Japanese insisted they should have him for trial on a charge equivalent to manslaughter. On May 16, after weeks of arguing and on instructions from the Defense Department here, the Army in Japan decided to let Japan have Girard.

On May 17 Secretary of Defense Wilson blocked the release of Girard to Japan until he checked the case. On June 4 the Defense and State departments issued a joint statement backing up the original decision to let Japan have Girard.

Girard's family sent into federal court and asked the judge not only to order the soldier brought back to this country but to bring Dulles and Wilson into court so they could be questioned about the case.

There was an obvious reason for that.

The joint statement had said, "Dulles and Wilson 'carefully reviewed all the available facts in the case' and added: 'They have now concluded' the decision to turn over Girard was all right."

Dulles begged off. He swore in an affidavit filed with the court that it would be useless for him to testify because he had no "personal knowledge whatsoever" of events leading up to Girard's detention for trial or keep him in custody. Adenauer Hurt While In Plane

VIENNA (INS)—West German chancellor Konrad Adenauer was slightly injured today when the plane in which he was flying on a three-day visit to Austria hit an air pocket.

The 81-year-old German leader's head was knocked against the door frame of the pilot's cabin. When he stepped off the plane at Vienna, he was wearing a big plaster patch on his face and traces of blood could be seen on his face.

Two Federal Agents, Dope Peddler Shot

CHICAGO (INS)—Two federal narcotics agents and a top member of a dope gang were critically wounded today in a gun battle which began in a Chicago tavern.

The wounded were agents John Ripa, 28, shot in the back, and Jack Love, 31, shot just above the heart; and gang member Carlo (Bananas) Urbiniatti, 40, who was shot in the head.

Albert E. Aman, district supervisor of the Narcotics Bureau, gave this account of the shooting:

Dope peddler Tony Malas made a sale to an undercover agent and was trailed by two other agents to the Triangle Inn on the southwest side.

The two agents, Ripa and Ralph Eckhardt, mingled with the customers for about 40 minutes when suddenly Ripa was shot in the back without warning by Dominic Argentine, one of the owners of the tavern. Eckhardt dragged his partner out of the tavern where four other agents were waiting.

Moments later Urbiniatti, a gunman for the dope gang, drove up and shot agent Love when the narcotics men surrounded his car. Urbiniatti was then shot in the head.

Believing Argentine, 38, still inside, police riddled the building for two hours but Argentine had escaped.

However, he was picked up at his home a short while later. Malas and two other gang members also were arrested.

Foreign Aid Hit By Morse, Long

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Morse (D-Ore.) said today "a senseless waste of millions" on foreign aid has contributed to "a rising tide of anti-Americanism throughout the world."

Morse joined Sen. Long (D-La.) in an attempt to cut 390 million dollars from the $3,637,000,000 foreign aid bill over the opposition of both party leaders.

In the Senate's second day of debate, Morse described a committee-recommended cut of 227 million dollars in administration requests as "but a spit in the ocean of foreign aid waste."

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Morse (D-Ore.) said today "a senseless waste of millions" on foreign aid has contributed to "a rising tide of anti-Americanism throughout the world."

Morse joined Sen. Long (D-La.) in an attempt to cut 390 million dollars from the $3,637,000,000 foreign aid bill over the opposition of both party leaders.

In the Senate's second day of debate, Morse described a committee-recommended cut of 227 million dollars in administration requests as "but a spit in the ocean of foreign aid waste."

Adenauer Hurt While In Plane

VIENNA (INS)—West German chancellor Konrad Adenauer was slightly injured today when the plane in which he was flying on a three-day visit to Austria hit an air pocket.

The 81-year-old German leader's head was knocked against the door frame of the pilot's cabin. When he stepped off the plane at Vienna, he was wearing a big plaster patch on his face and traces of blood could be seen on his face.

Two Federal Agents, Dope Peddler Shot

CHICAGO (INS)—Two federal narcotics agents and a top member of a dope gang were critically wounded today in a gun battle which began in a Chicago tavern.

The wounded were agents John Ripa, 28, shot in the back, and Jack Love, 31, shot just above the heart; and gang member Carlo (Bananas) Urbiniatti, 40, who was shot in the head.

Albert E. Aman, district supervisor of the Narcotics Bureau, gave this account of the shooting:

Dope peddler Tony Malas made a sale to an undercover agent and was trailed by two other agents to the Triangle Inn on the southwest side.

The two agents, Ripa and Ralph Eckhardt, mingled with the customers for about 40 minutes when suddenly Ripa was shot in the back without warning by Dominic Argentine, one of the owners of the tavern. Eckhardt dragged his partner out of the tavern where four other agents were waiting.

Moments later Urbiniatti, a gunman for the dope gang, drove up and shot agent Love when the narcotics men surrounded his car. Urbiniatti was then shot in the head.

Believing Argentine, 38, still inside, police riddled the building for two hours but Argentine had escaped.

However, he was picked up at his home a short while later. Malas and two other gang members also were arrested.

They had only limited success in combat and the idea was dropped.

The News added that the lights were 13-million-candlepower carbon arc lamps, and "there is strong reason to believe that something more than carbon arc was involved."

In Washington, the Army said no complaints of this type "officially have been brought to the attention of the Army. If any are received they will naturally be investigated."

Lyddy gave these facts about the four men he represents:

John J. Zawez, 42, Fairfield, a carpenter: His wife had three miscarriages, then delivered a child with a cleft palate. They have no other children.

Peter Decerbo, 35, Milford, a bottling firm worker: One miscarriage, and one child, a girl of seven, with a club foot.

Harold Saunders, 38, Bridgeport, a plastics firm executive: Two miscarriages, then a child with a cleft palate and a bare lip, then two apparently normal children.

Joseph Vanaore, 42, Hamden, a postal worker, who says he found out from a doctor in 1950 he is sterile. He said he twice applied to the Veterans Administration for compensation, and was turned down. He and his wife adopted a son two years ago.

Lyddy said the men of the 9th Armored Division's 33rd Ordnance Heavy Maintenance Tank Company "were assigned to this. They had no choice in the matter, up with her third husband Stanley. What To Wear 'Men In White' Is New Summer Clothes Story

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The same group of die-hards who keep dreaming of a white Christmas can now have a white Fourth of July. The surprise fashion color for the summer is white—plain, simple, spotless white.

You'll see white alone or in combination with other colors in almost every conceivable kind of summer apparel.

There are white shorts and slacks, white odd jackets, white wool sweaters, white sportshirts, white straw hats, white shoes.

It's best to use the white clothes in concert with another color—with white shorts, for example, a contrast of a black or red sportshirt makes a pleasantly startling combination. Or have the shirt white and the shorts or slacks black or some other color, like rust.

As usual, a formal summer occasion demands a white outfit, like the currently popular gleaming white shawl-collar tropical worsted dinner jacket, combined with black, trim, tapered formal trousers.

White is also being widely used in fabrics with other colors—striped sportshirts of red, white and black; summer ties of white and blue or white and green; Cabana sets of white patterns set against bold red or green grounds white in various patterns and assorted colors on many kinds of summer apparel.

And, this season, the classic navy blue blazer is fighting for its life, challenged by a stunning white wool flannel blazer sports coat. Also new are white flannel slacks, made of lightweight wool and perfect for summer wear. Golfers who feel the need of a little warmth after a hard round should welcome the new short jackets—available in white, of course—that are lightweight, loose-fitting and handsome.

So it looks like a white summer. Now all we need is some July snow.

Why has the Ivy Look been successful?

Because it is logical, says Chester Laurie, a designer who claims some of the credit for introducing the Ivy Look.

"It's neater and more logical," he says. "And it seems to make a man more conscious of his appearance. It's funny the change that comes over a man who adopts the Ivy way of dress. Maybe it's the back strap on the pants that makes him more aware of fingernail grooming, or, perhaps, the slimmer, natural shoulder line that causes him to cut his hair shorter."

Or maybe it's just that the short hair-cuts and the fingernail groomers are the ones who went for the Ivy Look in the first place.

You may be walking around on a pair of accident-causers. The National Shoe Institute claims that accidents around the home can be traced to worn-out shoes. This is especially true, the Institute maintains, for do-it-yourselfers.

First Diesel-Electric Railroad Engine Made In United States Retired

JERSEY CITY, N.J. — Old Museum in Baltimore.

"No. 1000", the runty diesel-electric engine that took the steam out of American railroading, retires today.

After 32 years, the little engine—the first diesel-electric engine built for service on a U.S. railroad—is going to railroad's Hall of Fame, the Baltimore and Ohio Museum in Baltimore.

Although it has less horsepower than some of today's pleasure automobiles, the engine signalled the beginning of the end of steam locomotives in America.

"We were baffled when we first saw the thing," said Thomas D. Campbell, the engineer who took No. 1000 on its maiden run from Phillipsburg to Jersey City.

"All the instructions I got was 'Here is the throttle, here is the reverse lever, and here is the brake.' It was easy to operate, though."

Campbell, now retired, will climb back into the cab today and take No. 1000 on a final special run from here to Elizabethport and back.

Then it will trundle down to Baltimore where, with the historic locomotives of the steam era, it will join America's railroading past.

Lauritz Melchior, famous singer, was born in Copenhagen, Denmark, in 1890.

OUR COUNTRY
The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

Bewildering Issue

NO ISSUE IN MANY years has so bewildered the world's ordinary citizens as has the question of the continued testing of nuclear weapons. The matter has been made more confusing by the fact that it was injected into our 1956 presidential campaign and is at all times—but especially now—a major item in Russia's propaganda arsenal. If people everywhere are to understand the issue, responsible leaders must strive harder than they have to separate it into its principal parts. As a preliminary, politics obviously ought to have nothing to do with the question. To find Democrats and Republicans lined up on opposite sides of it would be to discover a tragic failure of political responsibility.

LEGITIMATELY the matter seems to exist on three levels: moral, scientific, and military. On the moral plane, some men, including certain scientists, writers, philosophers and other molders of opinion, believe that regardless of other considerations the United States should exert moral leadership by initiating a total ban on further nuclear tests. But the moral argument is not weighing heavily at this moment in history. The big debate comes on the scientific and the military-strategic levels. Large numbers of scientists argue that radiation peril from nuclear tests is, or soon will be, so great for present and future generations that a total or partial test ban is vital. Other scientists, no less eminent, minimize the danger and say tests can go on for a long period. Some who see danger ahead ignore military considerations. Others presume to declare we are in a secure position with the nuclear stockpile we now have.

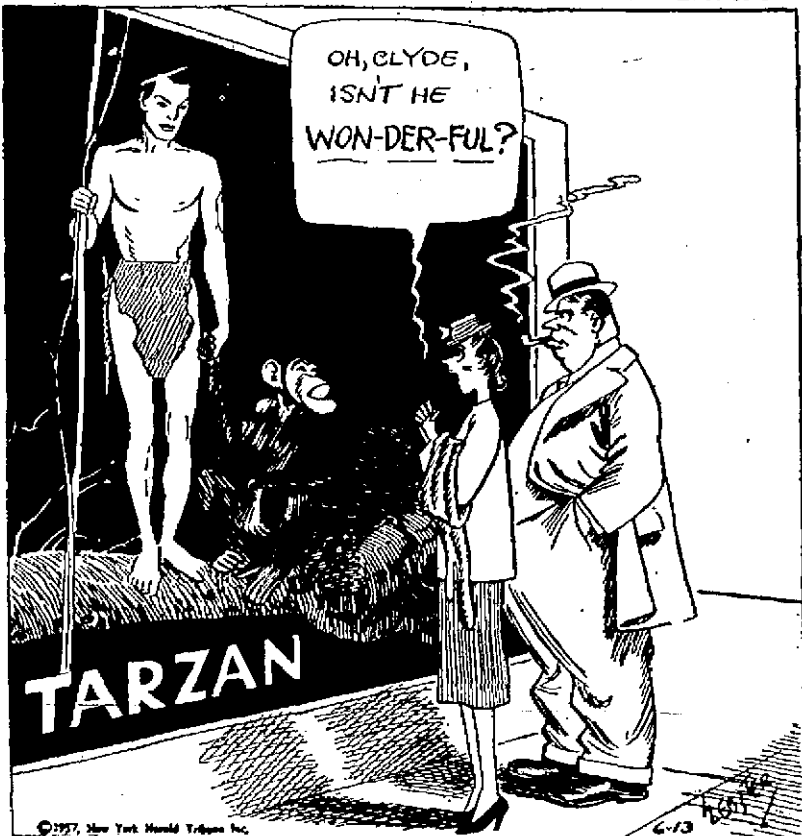

THE ACTUAL SAFETY of America and its free world friends is the controlling factor studied at the military level. In other words, even if the scientific argument were clearly resolved on the side that danger was great, the men in charge of free world destinies might still declare that the risk would have to be taken in the interest of survival in competition with a hostile communism. Such a decision cannot be taken by a scientist acting as a scientist, nor by a moralist in his capacity as a moral leader. It can only be taken by statesmen seeking to balance all factors but, by the very nature of their high responsibilities, giving priority to considerations affecting the protection of free men from attack. Since the scientific question is not resolved, no such difficult choice must yet be made. In the scientific uncertainty which exists, it should cause little surprise that President Eisenhower and other key leaders put heavy stress on the free world's need to secure itself. Some may accuse them of giving prime weight to the scientific arguments which minimize the possible peril. But the fact is, these arguments exist and are not to be discredited any more than are opposition views. Whatever else may be said, it cannot be thought that the men with whom this awful choice rests have any wish to harm humanity. All the evidence indicates they want to preserve it—but most particularly that part of it which can and does choose to live in freedom.

Teaching By Doing

AN OBSERVANT person, on a walk around his neighborhood or on the daily trip to work, can find dozens of things that could be improved. Most of us, however, are content to complain about such things, or at best to expect the "authorities" to take necessary action. We forget how much an individual can do. A school teacher in Geary, Okla., takes a different attitude. She drives 30 miles to work each day and for a time was disturbed by the trashy look of the scenery she passed. She made it a practice to stop for a few minutes to pick up trash. She tore down old political campaign posters and useless signs. Now the road she travels to work is much more pleasant. The Oklahoma teacher is a first-rate citizen. She is aware of the responsibilities that go with citizenship. But beyond that, she is imbued with desire to do more than her duty—to make the world a better place, at least in the small part of it in which she lives. The youngsters she teaches are fortunate indeed, for by her example she teaches eloquently.

Humphrey To Be On Spot As Witness

WASHINGTON — Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey will find himself cast in the role of chief symbol of big business influence in the Eisenhower Administration when he takes the chair as first witness in the Senate Banking Committee's investigation of fiscal and monetary policy scheduled to begin next week.

"It is ONLY natural for him to take the course he has," the Tennessee Senator said of the Treasury Secretary in discussing the coming investigation. "He is only expressing an interest that is natural to one of his big business background. It is natural, yes—but it isn't good for our people as a whole."

YOU ARE LIKELY to hear a good deal from now on about this label coined by the Tennessee Senator—big rich.

Where To Cut Foreign Aid Is Big Poser

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—When foreign aid Director John B. Hollister was younger, during and after World War I, he worked with Herbert Hoover's relief mission in Poland. He became a "Hoover Republican."

Later Hollister became a law partner of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft in Cincinnati. Then he was a "Taft Republican."

As a Hoover and Taft Republican, Hollister was made executive director of the Hoover commission government reorganization in 1953.

When he was promoted from this position to head the International Cooperation Administration in 1954, it was widely assumed his job was to liquidate the foreign aid program.

Now, three years later, he is still running the program and he denies all rumors that he is planning to quit.

WHEN Hollister took over ICA, its non-military appropriations were 1.5 billion dollars. In 1955 they were raised to 1.9 billion.

retary, who has already resigned and is retiring within a few weeks, Gore will use information gathered by his office and put it in chart form covering the Eisenhower Administration.

It shows, he explained, that big increases in profits for big business and higher interest rates coincide with diminishing prosperity of small business and a heavy increase in bankruptcies, especially in the ranks of small business. Our economic history reveals that as a recurring formula, and it is very clear today, the Senator said.

It has not been indicated how far the Senate investigation will go into Humphrey's continued personal interest in big business. With it he had been identified for many years, principally through his long association with the M. A. Hanna Company of Cleveland, of which he was president and chairman of the board, and its many affiliates.

WHEN HE appeared for confirmation as Treasury Secretary at the outset of the Eisenhower Administration, Humphrey told the Senate Finance Committee frankly that he intended to retain stock ownership in a number of companies, including M. A. Hanna and others he named.

This was unlike the case of Charles E. Wilson, who had resigned as head of General Motors to become Secretary of Defense. He was compelled to sell his stock.

Humphrey's continued stock interest was raised on the Senate floor recently by Senator Wayne Morse. He submitted figures compiled for him by the Office of Defense Mobilization showing that 29 corporations in which the M. A. Hanna Company holds interest, directly or through interlocking directorates, were favored with quick tax writeoffs by the ODM. All told, these companies got 410 certificates covering an amortized amount of $1,023,813.000.

COMPANIES in which the Secretary still has direct stock interest were among those getting this tax easement, which operates as an interest-free loan. Humphrey himself recently has been among critics of this special tax privilege which, he told the Senate Finance Committee a few days ago, is the reason why a general tax reduction for everybody else has to be postponed.

This last observation was quoted by Morse, who pointed out further that Humphrey has for the last four years been a member of the board of the ODM, the agency that issues the quick amortization certificates which were revived for the Korean War in 1950 to induce industry to expand for war production. The Oregon Senator concluded:

"I have always said that Mr. Humphrey was disqualified for the post of Secretary of Treasury because of the well-known prohibition against holding a Cabinet position when there was involved a conflict of interest between his personal economic interest and the interests involved in the jurisdiction of the office to which the President appointed him."

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK—My vice president in the happy racket of being a drama critic is a fellow named John McClain, and Johnny gave up a party the other day for another admirable chap who, for all any of us know, may end up this summer in a New York lake.

John had us all into the Yale Club for an afternoon with Donald Campbell, the daring young man who is the son of a distinguished, high speed father, the late Sir Malcolm Campbell.

Sir Malcolm used to court trouble and defy nature with automobiles and boats. Donald, a slender and engaging young Briton, does it an even harder way: all with boats.

WE GOT OFF to one side during the vicious periods of the afternoon and what Donald offered as a snippet of conversation was that he was going out onto Lake Canandaigua this summer to do two things: attempt to break his present water speed record of 225.36 mph, a reasonably swift matter on water, and settle a mystery.

"There definitely exists a 'water barrier,'" he said. "Like the sound barrier in supersonic jet flight. I know as I stand here that this mysterious force disintegrated John Cobb's boat in 1952 when Cobb managed to go faster than 200 mph and died doing it. Two hundred mph seems to be the line."

"Six of us have approached or gone over the line, only two having passed 200 mph. Cobb was killed. I lived. I'm lucky. Of the four who approached it: Verge was killed and three were seriously injured."

"ARE THERE more than three barriers?"

"Not that I know of. There is the sound barrier in the air, and the public has come to understand how it can be pierced without disaster and then even more speed gained. There must be a land surface barrier, although no one knows what it is."

"The fact is that there has to exist a speed beyond which control of an automobile would be hazardous or impossible. And both of these are on media which are constant. Air is air and land surface is land surface. It's when you get on water that all calculations and predictions go to pieces."

"Water is never a constant. The surface is not and cannot be the same from one moment to the next. The slightest breeze ruffles it, creating ripples. Ripples will even vary from one end of a lake to another. It is an

WASHINGTON — Carpenters long have been among my favorite people. I envy the way they drive nails without pounding their thumbs, enjoy the spicy smell of the shavings from their planes, and admire the way they can put a house together so it'll last at least 200 years.

All the carpenters I know are solid citizens, with pride in their work. So it was a numbing jolt to hear with my own ears the 300-pound treasurer of the Carpenters and Joiners Union of America swear under oath that he dares not admit he knew his own boss, the president of the union, because he feared he might incriminate himself.

The carpenters seem to have joined the unhappy ranks of the teamsters and the confectioners, with skulduggeries in high office and Senatorial investigations producing sensations. It is a pity.

HERE'S THE sorry tale concerning some swampy land on the outskirts of Gary, Ind., where the State Highway Department intended to put a cloverleaf interchange on its new road leading east from Chicago.

The boss carpenters got in there first with money mostly borrowed, bought up the land and sold it to the state for a profit of $78,000. This wasn't net, I regret to say, because the records indicated they slipped a couple of state officials about $15,000 each.

This isn't any mere local scandal in Indiana; most of the money came from federal highway aid funds and, hence, out of the pockets of all of us. The Senate Public Works subcommittee under the chairmanship of Senator Albert Gore had the records and there was no way of ignoring them.

TREASURER Frank M. Chapman of the union, who boasts a bay window bigger than that of any television wrestler, opened a special bank account in Indianapolis last fall, mostly with $20,000 borrowed from the bank. Union President Maurice A. Hutcheson and Vice President O. William Blaier seemed to be his silent partners.

Chapman then began buying chunks of Gary's swampy suburbs. He'd pay around $2,500 for a piece of land and sell it within a month to the state, say, for $11,000. He did this nine times, and the taxpayers, all of us—paid $78,615.99 more than we should have for the site of that cloverleaf.

The records showed further that Chapman paid $15,800 to one Harry Doggett and $15,800 to one Virgil Smith; gents with these names at the time were officials ever-present mystery. Let's get at it hypothetically: suppose you drive your car swiftly over a series of rail tracks and crossings.

"If the spacing is even, at a certain forward speed the conditions become critical and at each bounce or pitch another ahead will be excited, setting up enormous, wracking forces on tires, wheels and suspension. In moments there will be disintegration of the vehicle. This force is called resonance."

"If you imagine this happening at speeds more than 200 mph, which is around 400 feet per second, you will quickly understand the true and deadly nature of resonance—and the water barrier."

DONALD WAS going back to England after John's party, where he will crate up his boat, the Bluebird, and return here with it. Had he done much to the power factor in the Bluebird?

"Yes, some, of course. Every power unit can be improved," he said. "But my major interest was in hull design. I keep looking for a perfect hull formula that will control and dampen these rhythmic vibrations to the end that the boat will ride smoothly and harmlessly through the period of extreme stress."

"It is a jet-powered boat, as you know, and I have no propeller problems to add to the existing puzzle. Actually, it is turbojet. It first went 202.32 mph and then we modified it and at Lake Mead, Nevada, in November '55, we souped it up to 216 mph. Then, in September '56 at Lake Conington, England, I managed to get it up to the record; 225.36 mph. I have hopes of going beyond that at Canandaigua."

WHAT RECORDS did his father hold?

"He held the world's land speed record nine times and the water speed record four times. I didn't even think about going in for this, you know, until Henry Kaiser said he was building a boat that would shatter every record in sight. It was six years after Father died in 1949."

"It took a long time to get things underway. You don't just buy a hull and put a power plant in it. Anyway, we'll be back June 25th with the Bluebird and I plan about 10 trial runs during the summer, as wind and weather allow, and on or about September 10th I'll try for the new speed level. Do try and get back from Mexico for it."

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK—All I don't want for Father's Day is four front teeth. But come Sunday I'll be wearing four new store ones—although at the moment I'm not sure whether I'll be wearing them in my face or my back pocket.

Other happy fathers will be proudly showing off the presents showered on them by their loyal kinko—rainbow neckties, dazzling robes, beach shoes, peacock sport shirts, new power lawn-mowers.

And what'll I be doing? Standing in front of a bathroom mirror, making faces at myself, and by nightfall I'll be able to ring the bell once loud and clear and say "Mississippi!"

When my dentist first proposed about a year ago to take out my four upper front teeth, I ran out of his office, figuring the guy either had delusions of grandeur or else was taking money from Moscow to sabotage the American way of life.

"ROVER," SAID my heartless wife, "every time you get an ingrown toenail you think it is a conspiracy on the part of the medical profession to destroy you."

Frances then went to the dentist and got his side of the story. Naturally she came home battling for the dentist.

In any battle between a husband and science, the wife always turns her back on her man and fights shoulder-to-shoulder with science. "The dentist is really doing you a favor," she said. "Those teeth have to go, or else you could get something real serious."

"Let him do you the favor," I snarled. "These fangs have served me 40 years, and I'll not desert them now."

But in adopting this attitude I found I had bitten off more than I could chew. Everytime I sneezed Frances would shake her head and say: "It's your front teeth. They're getting worse, you know."

After 11 losing months of this war of marital nerves, I gave up and agreed to let the dentist have his fun this week.

THE NIGHT BEFORE the scheduled pulling out party, Frances threw a farewell banquet for my four doomed front teeth. We had all my favorite foods: steak, ice cream, watermelon and good old corn on the cob.

"Enjoy the corn on the cob," urged Frances. "You won't feel like eating any more for at least a few days."

I picked up a big golden ear, covered it with butter, salted and peppered it thoroughly, then took a big bite.

Crack! I suddenly felt an empty space in front of my mouth, and something popped out on the floor. It was one of my four front teeth.

"Now do you think your dentist is a fraud?" asked Frances.

"No," I had to admit. "Any guy who can predict the natural life of a 40-year-old tooth to within 24 hours must be a genius."

Well, at the office this morning, all my false friends with false teeth are grinning at the empty space in my gums and saying helpfully: "Getting old, eh?"

The answer, of course, is yes. But I'm reconciled. There comes a time in any man's life when most of his remaining adventures are dentures.

My time is now.

Washington Scene

LONDON—We came over here for the potted shrimp festival but I am so used to heading for Capitol Hill every day that force of habit took me to the House of Commons. It was just as I had envisioned it. Aneurin Bevan was on his feet telling Prime Minister Harold Macmillan not to be so blood-thirsty, for heaven's sakes.

The "P.M.," as every abbreviation-mad Englishman calls the Prime Minister, was defending Britannia's latest bomb test, but anything the P.M. is for, "Ny" Bevan is against, even if it be birds, bees and sunshine.

The extremely articulate Laborite declared—amid about even boos and cheers—that the Prime Minister and his opposite number in another land, meaning, I inferred, the President of the United States, were bent upon "testing" humanity from the face of the earth.

In as cold a voice as I have ever heard a head of state use upon an elected representative of the people, the P.M. implored the M.P. to resist the temptation to be such a colossus of ignorance. The exchange gave me a sharp twinge of homesickness, although I had only left the U.S.A. the evening before. It sounded just like a "you're a tub of rancid ignorance" debate between Senators Wayne Morse and Homer Capchart.

FOR ONE WHO has covered Congress for many years, a busman's holiday to the House of Commons is an absorbing experience—particularly if lucky chance gets you there just as they are starting the question period. This is the daily inquisition, lasting exactly one hour, from 2:30 to 3:30 p. m., when Her Majesty's Ministers must face the Members of Parliament and attempt to answer their queries to the satisfaction of somebody, even if only themselves.

I WANGLED a press ticket by brandishing my White House and Capitol credentials. My bride had to go all the way to Jack Whitney to get one. The U. S. Ambassador said he was only allowed four a day and that they were always bespoken months in advance. My bride said that if he didn't get her one she would spend the "question hour" asking him why. He blushed—and dug up a pass.

Incidentally, John Hay Whitney is just the type of envoy we should send to the Court of St. James's. With his wealth and cosmopolitan background he is not impressed by British titles. Unlike a number of his predecessors I could mention, but won't, he can't be taken into camp by the wiles of a specially-assigned Duchess.

ALL THE MINISTERS but the P. M. were sitting in line on a front row bench when the question hour opened—three minutes late. The chamber was crawling with functionaries in tail coats and knee breeches, but it was possible to distinguish the Ministers and members from the servants. The Commons looked so common. I noted that only about half of them wore vests, although Englishmen are more given to vests than we are. The Prime Minister came in at his regular time of three o'clock (which means the questioning takes only half an hour out of his day) and he was the only one who measured up to my conception of a well-groomed Englishman. But even so, he looked baggy compared to Ike.

County Civil Service Board Told Its Duties

Some of the functions of the new County Merit System were explained to two of the three members of the Civil Service Board at a meeting Tuesday night with the Board of County Commissioners at the Court House.

The board will begin functioning Saturday. Its two chief jobs will be certification of five persons whenever a county job vacancy occurs and to conduct a hearing for any employee against whom a charge is brought.

Present were the two Republican members of the board, Woodward D. Pealer of this city and J. Glenn Beall Jr. of Frostburg. William L. Wilson, who will be the Democratic member of the board, was unable to attend last night's session because of a prior commitment in Westernport.

Most of the explanation of the board duties was offered by Gordon E. Getty, attorney to the county commissioners.

Persons who will not come under the provisions of the merit system include elected officials of the county, the tax collectors, attorneys to the County Commissioners and the Board of Election Supervisors, the assistant state's attorney, persons appointed by the governor and those appointed by the judges of Circuit Court.

Specifically included are the deputies to the sheriff, the clerk to the trial magistrates in Cumberland and the clerk to the Board of County Commissioners, which is the one exception to the rule of not covering elected officials. James G. Stevenson was last elected clerk in November 1954.

Charges against any employee for incompetence or other reasons must be brought by the majority of the county commissioners or by all three. This was stated in answer to a question by Commissioner C. N. Wilkinson. A decision by the Civil Service Board may be appealed to Circuit Court.

Getty explained that the present board is only a temporary one serving until the county commissioners' first meeting in April 1959. At that time one person will be appointed to the board for six years, another for four and the third one for two years. Thereafter each appointment will be for six years and the appointments run from the first meeting in April in each case.

The law passed by the General Assembly this year creating the merit system specifies that the board shall meet at least once a month on the first Wednesday and each member will receive $300 a year in compensation.

Wallace G. Uffery, Cumberland city clerk and secretary to the city's Civil Service Commission, has offered to assist the county in the preparation of job classifications. The actual establishment of job classifications and pay

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP)—When metal-framed windows in a new apartment project leaked, contractors applied new caulking compound. It helped only temporarily. Then a sharp-eyed resident spotted the cause of the trouble. Seagulls, apparently hard-pressed for food in the off-season, were pecking away the caulking.

Girl Scouts To Have Open House At New Camp

An open house will be held Sunday at the new Girl Scout camp, officially named until the Girl Scouts near Flintstone, according to Mrs. George Miller, camp executive. The open house will be from 2 to 4 p. m.

Members of the camp committee and Girl Scouts will be hostesses and guides. Groups will be taken on a tour of the huge tract. Improvements, projects planned and points of interest will be designated and outlined. At least one unit of tents, where the girls will camp this summer will be in place, and the dining hall, storage and recreation quarters, water system and other improvements will be noted.

A suggestion box will be available and all who visit the camp are invited to submit a suggestion for a name. The council has reservations for summer camping are just about closed. There are four periods of camping allotted for this summer, each able to accommodate 52 girls, camping in three units. Three of these periods are already closed. There are a few reservations still available for the 12-day period from July 28 to August 9, she said. Unless local girls avail themselves of these immediately, they will be assigned to scouts from other councils who have applied if there are vacancies.

The regular board meeting of the Cumberland Council will be held at the Girl Scout House Monday at 7:30 p. m., Mrs. Miller said.

Plans Slated For Issuing Bike Permits

Permits to operate bicycles within the city limits will be issued at Police Headquarters next week, according to Chief R. Emmett Flynn.

The permits will be issued next Monday through Friday from 10 a. m. to noon and from 1 to 4 p. m. in the basement of Police Headquarters.

A fee of 25 cents will be charged for the new permits, which will be needed July 1.

Chief Flynn said all persons riding bicycles after July 1 must have permits.

The tags will not be issued, he said, unless bicycles are equipped with the proper warning device and brakes are in first-class condition. Siren whistles, he warned, are not allowed.

For night riding, proper lights must be mounted on the front and rear of bicycles.

The police department has confiscated 12 bicycles since April 16, when Chief Flynn ordered strict enforcement of rules requiring proper lighting for bikes used at night, saying the practice endangers the life of the bike riders and all others using the streets.

The vehicles may be kept for up to 60 days for violation of the rule.

Chief Flynn pointed out that inspectors must be able to read the serial numbers on the frames of the bicycles.

Petition Name Count Continues

Counting of names on petitions asking for a referendum on a proposed tax limitation increase has been about half completed by workers at City Hall.

The augmented staff of the City Registration Office had checked and typed on cards names, addresses and data on about half of the 3,263 names signed to petitions.

The count got under way a week ago under procedure set up for the count of petitions asking a referendum on a proposed $500,000 Urban Development bond issue.

S. A. Leaders In South End Transferred

Lt. and Mrs. James Pappas, commanders of the South Cumberland Corps of the Salvation Army, are being transferred from here effective June 30, according to Capt. Daniel Biggs, commander of the Salvation Army here.

He said Lt. Pappas has not received official notice of the location of his next assignment.

They will be succeeded in the South Cumberland post by Lt. and Mrs. Richard McConnell, both of Richmond, Va.

Capt. Biggs said Lt. and Mrs. McConnell graduated from the Salvation Army training college at Atlanta, Ga., on June 3, and will receive a brief vacation before assuming their duties here.

The new corps commanders will hold their welcome service at the South Cumberland Corps on Sunday, July 7.

Lt. Pappas, who has held the rank of first lieutenant for a year, is a native of Fredericksburg, Va. He was commissioned in Atlanta in 1933 and has served in Clarksville, assistant at the Citadel and at Mountsville, W. Va. He has been commander of the corps here since January, 1956.

Lt. Pappas married the former Lt. Dolores Dawson, of Clarksville, last June.

The Bald Boy-9

United Bald Heads Given Swift Side-step

By ELMER WHEELER

I was really washing my hair these days.

Somehow or other I felt that maybe my doc had something in the fact that clogged pores can cause hair to fall out.

Anyway, I was hopeful.

That is, until one day I got a note from the United Bald Heads of America!

You thing I'm kidding?

I'm not. There is such a society, and they even have sizzling sales slogans, to wit:

United Forever in Holy Bonds of Baldness.

No Dandruff for Me.

Can you beat that?

I asked Peter J. Michael, the hair researcher, about this and he told me it was true.

He said members often act like they do at A. A. meetings. They get up and give testimonials to bolster each other's morale.

No wonder the Egyptians ruled out hair and shaved their heads. That was highly fashionable in those days and certainly ruled out phobias and shocks to men upon finding they were bald.

You never knew who was bald and who wasn't.

Anyway, it was my turn to see, the doc on another phase of possible curable baldness. The discussion today was on emotional causes of baldness.

It seems emotional upsets can cause holes in the hair, like mine; huge patches of hair will fall out almost overnight.

Your general physical condition is important. Good body, good glands mean good eyes, better-looking eyes and complexion.

"United Forever in the Holy Bonds of Baldness"

A rundown physical condition can cause the hair, as well as other parts of the body, to run down and destroy itself.

Mental health is equally important. After the stock market crash in 1929, men turned white-headed overnight, and many had nervous ailments that caused them to lose their hair as well as their savings.

Fortunately, as they overcame their worries, their hair returned. This is one of the curable types of hair losses, my doc said.

He had a suspicion that the moth spot in the back of my noggin was not just wear and tear or old age, but due to a nervous condition. He gave it a fancy name.

He told me that perhaps I had been worrying too much, under a nervous strain, pushing too hard, or that the shock of finding my hair line was receding, so upset my mental balance that the hole appeared.

"You'd perhaps just have had a normal V if the patch hadn't showed up. Let's work on the patch."

He told me my mental attitude was important. "That part of the psychosomatic treatment you'll get later on if we find you are a permanent baldy."

It seems negative thoughts and emotions such as hate, anger, fear, worry, self-pity can cause frustration in the system and mind that so upset our glandular self, that anything can happen.

"Note if you will," he said, "the average business executive. He has furr on his head as he gulps down donuts and coffee, reads the paper, rushes off to an office and begins to excite his system."

Being young, said my doc, he can get away with it for the time being; then suddenly he gets ulcers, indigestion, heart trouble, high blood pressure, and his hair reacts to these upsets and starts thinning itself out.

On the other hand, pointed out the doc, note the hair of an out-of-doors man. It is often very ample and shiny and glossy, and even if it is thin, it still looks healthy as fine silk.

Now the doc doesn't mean in the least that cowboys have more hair than salesmen or purchasing agents; but that many a man who suddenly quiets down, look things easy, began to have better-looking hair along with

Farmers Try To Catch Up On Work In Fields

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Farm tractors in Maryland and Delaware, previously stalled in many areas by a workable ground, began to roll last week as farmers attempted to catch up on their field work.

Cures Found For Many Cases Of Mental Illness

Editor's Note — This is the first in a series of three articles on mental health prepared by Dr. George S. Stevenson medical consultant, National Association for Mental Health in cooperation with the Allegany County Mental Health Association.

Only 25 years ago a great many people considered mental illness hopeless. Since then, considerable research has been carried on. As a result, methods for treating many of the mental illnesses have been discovered, and tens of thousands of patients are now being treated successfully each year.

For instance, just look at what research has helped to accomplish regarding schizophrenia. Patients are given the best and latest and involutional melancholia, treatment, as many as 70 per cent common mental illnesses, can improve or recover.

Today the rates of recovery and improvement are 55 per cent to 60 per cent for schizophrenia and 70 per cent for involutional melancholia.

New tranquilizing drugs, such as chlorpromazine and reserpine, have appeared on the medical scene in the last two years. Research with these drugs offers the hope of recovery in cases of mental illness which have not yet yielded to other forms of treatment.

There are many promising research leads for improvement of the methods of treatment and for the prevention of mental disorders. However, some of these leads cannot be followed up because of lack of funds.

The nation must improve the care and treatment given in mental hospitals if a greater number of people are to recover from mental illness in the future. At the present time, about 45 per cent of the patients admitted to the average mental hospital are eventually discharged as improved or recovered. In a few well-equipped and well-staffed

Will Of Slain Woman Filed

An estate of more than $500,000 was left by Mrs. Bernice Van Horn, who was slain near Baltimore 11 days ago. Her will was filed in Orphans Court in Baltimore yesterday and the document named her husband, Robert J. Van Horn, as principal beneficiary.

Van Horn is under indictment on a murder charge in her death. Van Horn was named executor in the will, with Charles H. Buck listed as a substitute trustee. The court granted Buck's request that the Maryland Trust Co. be named co-administrator with him to collect and protect the estate.

The will, dated April 1955, said that if Van Horn did not survive her, a half of her main estate would go to the Jesuit Seminary Fund and the other half to the Brown Memorial Presbyterian Church.

It also directed that her jewelry be sold and the proceeds be turned over to Brown Memorial Church.

Marines Enlist Honor Student

The local Marine Corps recruiting office has enlisted Max Bowser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Bowser, Accident.

Bowser, a graduate of Northern High School in Garrett County, received two major awards in school. He won the public speaking award in a contest held at College Park among agricultural students of the state, and also received the DeKalb agricultural standing farm practices in 1955, into migrant labor camps of the state.

During his senior year at Maryland - Virginia - Delaware school, he was president of the peninsula every year.

Student Council, and was also president of the FFA during his junior and senior years.

Local recruiters said he has gone to Parris Island, S. C., to begin his basic training.

Migrant Workers Live In Squalor

Editor's note: This is the third of four articles on the effect of migratory farm workers on the communities. Today's installment deals with the problems of the migrants themselves.

By CHARLES L. STAFFORD
Associated Press Staff Writer

Rosita, a care-worn Negro, sits in a rooming house in Dorchester, Md., looking sullen as her face. She is just one of the thousands who wander standing farm practices in 1955, into migrant labor camps of the state.

During his senior year at Maryland - Virginia - Delaware school, he was president of the peninsula every year.

Student Council, and was also president of the FFA during his junior and senior years.

Local recruiters said he has gone to Parris Island, S. C., to begin his basic training.

Only a few are better.

Sanitary facilities are rudimentary. The living quarters have no individual water supply. In many camps a single well furnishes water for 50 or more workers.

Wood or kerosene stoves, shared by two or three families, are used for cooking.

There are no playgrounds or volleyball courts. No libraries or sewing circles.

The camps are located in the shadows of a cannery or in a clump of trees near the rolling fields.

Virginia has an estimated 1,500 of these migrant camps. Delaware's three counties count 129. Maryland has between 500 and 700.

Lacking entertainment or diversion, the workers are easy prey for the bootlegger and the professional gambler, even for the sharpie with only the necessities of life to sell.

A new car pulled into a camp at Hurlock, Md., last summer. Two Negro men and women got out, opened suitcases and began to sell hair pomade, cosmetics and other articles at stiff prices. A deputy sheriff who happened to be checking the camp ordered the trio out when they couldn't produce peddler's license.

They protested bitterly that they were "evangelists only trying to support a church." A half hour later and 25 miles away, they tried their sales pitch at another camp only to run into the same deputy.

Liquor is the big problem, lawmen say. And with the influence of liquor the crowded living conditions, morals take a beating.

Venerable disease prospers. So does the crop of unwed mothers. Intestinal diseases are common. And sick migrants are in dire straits indeed. They must require emergency treatment before they can get into a hospital. They have no hospital or medical insurance. And they are on the road so much that they rarely qualify for welfare aid.

Although they actually can qualify for some medical aid from counties in Maryland, few are aware of it.

Illiteracy runs high among the migrants. Most have no formal education.

At work in the fields, they resist efforts to receive pay by the pound for what they pick, even though they might make more that way.

"They want to be paid by the hamper," said Charles S. Yeager, foreign labor supervisor for Maryland's Department of Employment Security.

"They put a stone in their pockets whenever they fill a hamper so they will know how much they have coming at the end of the day. They can't figure it up when they're paid by the pound."

If the workers labor under an unscrupulous crew leader, they run the chance of being cheated.

A representative of the Tri-State Cannery Assn., John W. Rue, said the growers and processors contract with the crew leaders, who subcontract with the workers. The employer pays off the crew leader at day's end and he pays the workers.

"We have no way of knowing whether the workers get cheated," Rue said. But, he added, the employees have no choice, since they would have to make social security payments if they contracted with the workers directly. And it would be a virtual impossibility to keep the necessary records because of the way the workers move around, he said.

The Rev. James Jones of McDaniel, Md., who works closely with the migrants, said the crew leaders eventually wind up with much of the worker's yearly pay.

A male worker averages $600 to $1,000 a year, Jones said. Women make about half that.

As soon as children are old enough to pick, they go into the fields alongside their parents.

Even so, a family will average less than $2,000 a year.

And even the youngsters are fair game for the unscrupulous.

A woman who works closely with the migrants said she once asked a crew leader if the children save their money.

"Oh, I save it for them," he said. "If they had it they'd just spend it. I buy them clothes with some of it so they'll have something to wear."

The ultimate indignity suffered by the migrant is generalization. He has no individuality among the permanent residents.

"It is the usual thing to consider them all trash," said Editor Maurice Rumpo of the Cambridge (Md.) Banner. "Yet I saw cabins in one camp which were neatly kept. In front of the cabins, the occupants had tacked on trees crude signs asking everyone to keep the area clean."

In the middle of an atrocious camp, I saw a large table spread with clean paper and decorated with party favors. Someone was taking pains to create an oasis of decency by fixing a birthday party for a dozen well-scrubbed little kids."

The way of the migrant is hard, rightly enough. But there is hope for those who care enough to hope. Here and there tiny reforms have

Public Service Commission Grants PE Clearance Right

BALTIMORE — The Public Service Commission granted one request and received another today involving Potomac Edison Co. operations at Frederick and Hagerstown.

The PSC granted the firm an exemption from a requirement of its regulations that there be a 22-foot clearance between a railroad track and any overhead structure.

The Edison company asked authority to provide no more than 16 feet of clearance in connection with the highway by-pass being constructed at Frederick.

A compromise distance of 18 feet was approved by the PSC. The petition was opposed by the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

The other Edison case involved a company request to sell its public transportation business in Hagerstown. Now primarily a power company, Edison wants to sell the business to Joseph C. Suceca, who runs a bus-line in Pennsylvania.

Woman Driver Gets Too Much "Assistance"

OKLAHOMA CITY — Officer R. W. Starr reported that a woman pushed her luck too far after he offered to assist when it appeared she couldn't get her car to work in a parking meter.

The woman told Starr that she paid for parking space and should get it even if the flag didn't go down.

Starr hit the meter several times, and it suddenly began working. He then noticed that a slug had dropped into the meter. He issued her a summons to appear in court.

Library Given Copy Of Thesis

Robert W. Twigg of LaVale has given the Cumberland Free Public Library a copy of the 129-page thesis which he submitted in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the degree of master of science in geology at West Virginia University. He received his master's degree in Morgantown last week.

Twigg's thesis is entitled "Geology of the Cumberland Topographic Quadrangle." It is available for reference at the library, according to Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian. Twigg has accepted a position as an exploration geologist with the Atlantic Refining Company in Dallas, Texas.

MODERN-DAY WAGON TRAIN—Deployed in a circle formation, like the ones pioneers used when attacked by Indians, a snazzy trailer caravan makes camp for the night at Columbus, Ohio. But, with the circle formation and an old-time wagon boss the similarity ends. The plush caravan, featuring all-aluminum trailers, is worth $300,000 with each of the 29 trailer outfits costing $10,000 or more. So far this year, the happy "gypsies," who come from 15 states, have been to the Kentucky Derby, Washington, D. C., Williamsburg, Va., and the Indianapolis Speedway for the 500-mile race. This caravan stopped for lunch at the western limits of Cumberland recently while enroute to Indianapolis.

Social Work Is Uncrowded Field

OMAHA—(INS)—High school seniors: Looking for an uncrowded field, with an opportunity to do some good in the world?

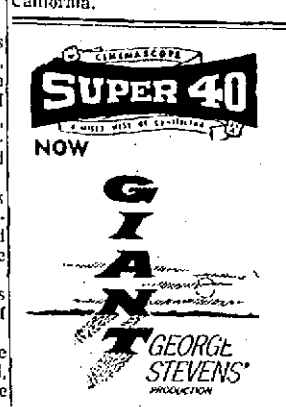

Then, try social work. Progress in the past 25 years in social work has been so great, according to Howard Parad, dean of the Smith College School of Social Work at Northampton, Mass., that there are now openings for 8,000 to 10,000 qualified workers.

Speaking at the Social Work Career Day at the Nebraska Psychiatric Institute recently, Parad said about 50,000 workers will be needed in the next decade.

He said the shortage of workers now is causing "waiting lines of people who need help." New frontiers opening in the field of social work, Parad said, include the public schools, "where social workers are needed to help the child adjust to the fast pace of the world in which we live."

Two Veteran Teachers End County Work

Irene Lapp And
Ada Lucas Hughes
Go On Retirement

The retirements of two veteran Allegany County teachers were announced today by Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools.

They are Miss Irene Lapp, 906 East Oldtown Road, and Mrs. Ada Lucas Hughes, Cash Valley Road.

Miss Lapp had been on the faculty of Allegany County High School and Allegany High School since 1924. She taught bookkeeping and commercial law.

She began her teaching career in this county at Wentling School, serving there from 1913 to 1916. She was at Pennsylvania Avenue School from 1916 to 1918.

Between 1918 and 1924, Miss Lapp was on the faculty of Frederick High School, attended Catholicism's Business School and worked for a short time for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad here.

She has bachelor of arts and master of arts degrees from Columbia University. She belongs to the Cumberland Business and Professional Women's Club, teaches a Sunday school class at St. Mark's Reformed Church, and is treasurer of the Girl Scout camp of Cumberland GSA Council.

Miss Lapp said her immediate plans are to visit her sister, Miss Emily Lapp, a former Allegany High School teacher in Riverside, Calif., where she is a Girl Scout field representative.

After that she plans to join the Allegany County Third Club and the Mapleside Homeowners Club.

Miss Lapp was honored at a luncheon by faculty members Friday at the school. She was presented a "welcome home" key and a diploma of "master teacher and friend" from the faculty.

Mrs. Hughes began her teaching service at Warrior Mountain School where she taught from 1917 through 1919.

She then went to Pennsylvania Avenue School where she was a faculty member from 1919 to 1936. When Fort Hill High School was opened in 1936 she was transferred there and remained on that faculty until her retirement this year.

Mrs. Hughes instructed classes in mathematics, geometry and psychology. She attended Frostburg Normal and received her bachelor of arts degree from Western Maryland College. She also attended Johns Hopkins University and the University of Maryland.

She was honored at a luncheon Monday by the faculty at Fort Hill. The teachers presented her with a set of luggage. Other guests included two retired Fort Hill teachers, Miss Margaret Smith and O. B. Boughton.

Council Has Power To Act On Rec Jobs

The city's recreation ordinance does not state that the Recreation Board must make annual recommendations in regard to hiring of employees for the department's programs.

City attorney Thomas B. Finan expressed the view in a memo to Finance Commissioner John J. Long today.

Long at Monday's meeting of the Mayor and Council questioned whether council could legally approve a list of employees for summer recreation jobs since there was no recreation board to recommend them. All members of the board have resigned recently and it has not been reconstituted.

Council acted on and approved the list of employees Monday with the understanding that Finan would check the ordinance concerning the board recommendation clause.

Finan said language of the ordinance does not indicate that it is mandatory that recommendations be made or the council cannot retain any employees without such a recommendation.

He said he felt further that since the type and number of employees are approximately the same as those employed each year since the program has been in operation and in view of the fact summer months have started and the program must continue, the Mayor and Council would have authority to employ individuals presented by various orders proposed in recent weeks.

The group approved Monday had the recommendation of acting recreation director Gene Mason.

Finan further stated that there had been no radical change and the type of personnel was in keeping with recommendations of former boards. He also pointed out that he understood N. Gwynn Fletcher, former rec director who resigned, had formulated plans for the summer program and the employees hired are in keeping with his proposals.

Church Plans School For LaVale Youth

A vacation Church School will be held June 17-28 at LaVale Methodist Church, according to Rev. W. W. Patterson, pastor, who said Mrs. Robert C. Morris will be superintendent.

Classes will be conducted from 10 a. m. to noon daily, Monday through Friday, and the general theme of the school will be "Friends Near and Far." Registration is to be made before the opening day if possible, Mrs. Morris said.

Mrs. Leslie Amtower and Mrs. Morris will be teachers for kindergarten classes, assisted by Mrs. William Helmick, Mrs. Earl Bray, Mrs. Albert Morgan Jr., Mrs. John Phillips, Mrs. Charles Krimm, Mrs. Ted Femi and Mrs. Lorimer Twigg.

"Friends at Home" and in the Community will be the theme of the primary course, with Mrs. Harold Green as instructor, assisted by Mrs. James Smith, Mrs. James Walburn, Mrs. Robert Konzal, Mrs. Walter Edwards and Mrs. Robert Horn.

The junior group will study "Living and Working Together as Christians," with Mrs. Floyd V. Cozad, teacher, being assisted by Mrs. Dennis McIntyre, Mrs. Lawrence Clapper and Rev. Mr. Patterson.

Mrs. Clapper will be in charge of the music, with Mrs. Harold Green as accompanist.

Transportation and refreshments will be furnished by the WSCS of the church, while the youth of the church will assist in the recreation program and serving of refreshments.

The school will be concluded with a sharing program at 7:30 p. m. Sunday, June 30, in the Fellowship Hall of the church. A dedication service for the school workers will be held at the morning service this Sunday, Rev. Mr. Patterson said.

Memorial Hospital Board Honors William A. Gunter

The Board of Governors of Memorial Hospital last night honored William A. Gunter, its chairman, who is retiring July 3.

Charles A. Piper presided at the dinner held at the Cumberland Country Club for the local attorney who is completing 17 years on the board.

Gunter, as state senator from this county in 1927, sponsored the bill in the General Assembly that created Memorial Hospital.

Retirement Required

The hospital, under Gunter's legislation, is operated by a self-perpetuating board of governors. Retirement upon reaching age 65 is compulsory, but the retired members continue in an advisory capacity.

Charles L. Kupp, another retired board member, reviewed Gunter's service to the community in his various volunteer duties. He also showed films of the honored guest as a youngster in Frostburg and of his activities in recent years in civic affairs.

The board presented Gunter with a watch.

John A. Moberly, hospital superintendent, also spoke. Gunter responded and recalled that the hospital's predecessor, the Western Maryland Home, was chartered in 1888 by a group of local women and located in the home of Dr. G. J. Beachy at 61 Bedford Street.

Later the hospital was moved to a home at the corner of Union and Ellen streets which had seven or eight wards, he said. It was called the Western Maryland Home and Infirmary.

Railroad Created Need

In 1892 Western Maryland Hospital was constructed on Baltimore Avenue. This is now Allegheny Inn. Gunter said the demand for a larger hospital was caused by the great number of accidents on the railroads. Injured persons on the B&O Railroad, he said, were treated by doctors in the basement of Queen City Hotel.

Gunter recalled that in 1900 when the city's population was 17,128, admissions to Western Maryland Hospital that year were in the hundreds.

In 1936, Memorial's admissions totaled 11,600, along with 17,000 outpatients (persons treated and not admitted). The hospital has 330 employees, plus 115 student nurses.

The institution has an annual income of approximately $1,500,000, with an annual payroll of about $900,000, the retiring chairman noted.

Occupied In 1929

The hospital was built in 1928 and 1929 and first occupied in August 1929. Gunter became a member of the board in 1930.

Bond Hearing Scheduled In Court Monday

A hearing will be held Monday at 1:30 p. m. in Circuit Court before Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris on a "friendly" suit brought by William A. Gunter, a taxpayer, against the Mayor and City Council concerning a $500,000 bond issue and petition for a referendum.

The court is being asked to determine who is a qualified voter in a municipal election and also to determine what is a valid signature of a qualified voter.

Gunter is seeking a declaratory decree and a mandatory injunction against the city and asks that a referendum be held on the question of the $500,000 bond issue.

Albert A. Doub is attorney for the plaintiff in the case while Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, will present the case for the City of Cumberland.

Petitions signed by registered voters of the city asking for a referendum on the big bond issue are being counted by workers at the city registration office at City Hall.

The bond issue was proposed by the Mayor and City Council to pay for the city's contributions for the Crosstown Thruway, which have not been paid under a contract with the State Roads Commission.

Library Branch Opens Monday

The South End branch of the Cumberland Free Public Library will be opened Monday, Miss Mary Walsh, librarian, announced today.

The branch, located in Pennsylvania Avenue School, is closed this week for repairs, she said.

Summer hours will be from noon to 3 p. m. Mondays through Fridays. Story hours are held on Thursdays from 1:30 p. m. to 2:30 p. m.

To Elect Officers

A meeting of the Columbia Street Playground Association will be held today at 7:30 p. m. at the playground. Officers will be elected and activities for the summer season discussed.

Meeting Tonight

The reunion committee of the Allegheny High School Class of 1937 will meet today at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Eric Gibbs, Roberts Place.

Tour Slated By Teachers At Luke Mill

Area Instructors In Science Will Also Attend Seminar

A day long tour of the Luke mill of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company will be taken next Wednesday by 10 science teachers of area high schools.

Their visit will precede by a few days the beginning of a summer conference at the University of Maryland devoted to the improvement of science teaching and sponsored by the Future Scientists of America Foundation of the National Science Teachers Association, the University of Maryland and West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

In all, 44 science teachers from communities in the paper company's six mill locations will attend the two-week seminar at the university at College Park from June 23 to July 6. Preliminary tours have been arranged at each mill for teachers from the particular area concerned.

Full Schedule Arranged

A full schedule has been prepared for the visit of the 10 teachers to the Luke Mill. They will be greeted by John A. Luke, manager of the mill, at 9 a. m., and the balance of the morning will be devoted to exhibits, tours and discussion concerning wood procurement and conservation, the pulp mill, recovery of chemicals, and the electrolytic plant.

At noon, the teachers will be the guests of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company at luncheon at the Westvaco Clubhouse in Luke. The afternoon will be spent in visiting and observing the technical service department, the research laboratory, the paper mill and the calendaring operation.

Teachers who will visit Luke Mill and attend the seminar from this area are: Robert M. Hutchison, Allegheny High School; William M. Leeson, Fort Hill High School; both of Cumberland; Raymond R. Pomeroy, Deall High School, Frostburg; James P. Frase, Valley High School, Lonaconing; John Morgan, Mt. Savage High School; Larry A. Patterson, Bruce High School, Westport; Charles F. Strauss, Northern Garrett County High School, Accident; Harold B. Miller, Southern Garrett County High School, Oakland; Charles Edward Seaman, Piedmont High School, and Owen S. Schaeffer, Keyser High School.

Help Career Choice

Designed around the theme, "Effective Teaching and Career Counseling in the Junior and Senior High School Science Program," the conference will feature a study of the role of the science teacher in helping young people make wise choices relative to careers in science and science-related areas, as well as to increase personal know-how in the science subjects taught.

A grant from West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company provides fellowships of $250 each, the payment of all tuition required by the University of Maryland.

Nominations for the conference fellowships were obtained from the principals of the high schools in the vicinity of the six mills of the paper company at Luke, Mehanville, N. Y., Tyrone and Williamsburg, Pa.; Covington, Va.; and Charleston, S. C. Teachers were selected on the basis of their professional and personal qualifications and for their ability to be a productive member of a research team attacking the central problem of the conference.

Gain New Ideas

The program is designed to enable the conference fellows to gain new information and ideas.

Designed around the theme, "Effective Teaching and Career Counseling in the Junior and Senior High School Science Program," the conference will feature a study of the role of the science teacher in helping young people make wise choices relative to careers in science and science-related areas, as well as to increase personal know-how in the science subjects taught.

A grant from West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company provides fellowships of $250 each, the payment of all tuition required by the University of Maryland.

Nominations for the conference fellowships were obtained from the principals of the high schools in the vicinity of the six mills of the paper company at Luke, Mehanville, N. Y., Tyrone and Williamsburg, Pa.; Covington, Va.; and Charleston, S. C. Teachers were selected on the basis of their professional and personal qualifications and for their ability to be a productive member of a research team attacking the central problem of the conference.

It's Official, Bass Minimum Size 9 Inches

Fishermen who angle in Maryland waters can take bass of nine inches in length, according to Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Munk.

He explained that the State Game and Inland Fish Commission had set the minimum length at 10 inches while a bill which was passed at the last session of the Legislature set the size at nine inches.

Due to the controversy over which was the legal length the game commission has decided to abide by the Legislature's nine-inch minimum size law.

Ernest A. Vaughn, director of commission, phoned Munk today concerning the matter. Vaughn said the commission's regulation on bass minimum size would be rescinded at its July meeting.

Subscribers To Cable TV To Get Refund

Internal Revenue Action Expected As Result Of Decisions

Subscribers to television community antenna systems, such as Potomac Valley Television, are expected to be relieved soon of an eight per cent excise tax.

Rep. Robert C. Byrd (D-W.Va.) announced this morning that the Internal Revenue Service is preparing to reverse its present position and provide for four-year refunds.

A spokesman for the local television company said: "We are delighted at the prospect of the Internal Revenue Service in reversing its previous stand, and we hope it won't be too long until the details of the procedure necessary to obtain the refunds will be released."

Bulletin Expected

In terms of dollars and cents, the refund will mean that subscribers who have paid the $104 installation fee will receive $8 plus the 32 cents tax they have paid each month during the past four years.

The local company spokesman said it is the understanding that all subscribers will be eligible for the tax refund, and as soon as additional information is received it will be released to the public.

The only additional information available at the local office is that the IRS will issue a bulletin within the next few weeks authorizing the company not to collect further tax.

Many Systems In Use

Congressman Byrd announced in Washington this morning that the change means people throughout the country will not only be relieved of the tax in the future, but will also, through the firms from which they obtain the antenna service, be able to claim a refund for amounts paid within the past four years.

Rep. Byrd said some 500 community scattered over 40 states rely upon the community antenna system to get television service in areas not well adapted to television reception.

Byrd said the Internal Revenue Service is reversing its former position in line with decisions recently handed down by the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Third and Fourth circuits of West Virginia.

COLLECTION DAY TOMORROW

Fried Chicken Heads Menu At Festival

Poultry Industry Takes Holiday To Attend Affair

LAUREL, Del. — This is the day when members of the Delaware Peninsula's poultry industry take off half a day to attend their own festival.

Officials of the Delaware Poultry Festival said the entire industry — growers, processors and merchandisers — were to close their doors at noon today and head for the festival here.

The industry men will eat fried chicken from what is billed as "the world's largest frying pan" on this final day of the three-day celebration.

Also scheduled today was the senior cooking championship, to be judged by 50 home economists and food editors from New York, Chicago, Washington and Baltimore.

Parade Planned
The 1956 list, Mrs. Lillian Weisberg of Hyattstown, Md., is ineligible to compete this year. Her husband, Howard, is entering in her place.

Announcing the half-day "Holiday on Delmarva," President Sterling A. White of the Delmarva Poultry Industry said:

"The directors of the industry felt that their employees deserved an opportunity to see the festival which, after all, is nothing more than the results of their labor and perseverance."

The annual festival parade is being held at 6 o'clock this evening. Serving as parade marshal, on her horse "Highland Finish," will be Miss Elvia Rae Smith, 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Smith of Harrington.

Trophies and cash were offered as first, second and third prizes for the parade's 11 divisions — including floats, fire departments and bands.

Other Prizes
In the junior chicken cooking contest yesterday, the top prize of a kitchen range and $150 in cash went to a 16-year-old Italian girl who came to this country a year ago.

Miss Maria Pizzadili, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Pizzadili, outcooked 40 other teen-agers with her Chicken a la Romano — a version of Chicken Cacciatore served with Romano cheese.

The Pizzadilis, who now live at Felton near Dover, came to this country last spring from Sardinia, Italy. In her first year in an American school, Maria recently won first prize in a sewing contest.

Second and third place, respectively, went to Gail Brewington, 15, for her Hawaiian Lei of Chicken, and Brenda Whaley, 16, for Chicken Duchess. Both are from Salisbury, Md.

West Virginia Freight Rate Hike Okayed

CHARLESTON — Railroad freight rates on products shipped within West Virginia will go up, effective Saturday.

The Public Service Commission, following the lead of the Interstate Commerce Commission, approved an increase of 7 per cent in all freight rates except for coal and coke.

The increase of 7 per cent will apply to coal and coke only to a limit of 16 cents more per ton.

The PSC made a similar exception in 1951, when it increased freight rates for coal within West Virginia by 12 per cent but only 6 per cent in the Charleston district.

The PSC's order followed the lead of the ICC, which granted a similar 7 per cent increase in freight rates last December. The ICC granted the boost to cover higher costs because of wage hikes. In the ICC order, coal shipments were given a flat 10 cents per net ton rate increase.

A companion order issued by the PSC granted a 7 per cent increase in shipments of milk and milk products within West Virginia. Such goods are not covered in the freight rate order because, primarily, they are carried in baggage cars on passenger trains and not on regular freight runs.

Submerged Battleship Sinks 55-foot Yacht

NORFOLK, Va. — The old battleship San Marcos, originally christened the Texas when launched in 1893, has sunk another ship although she has been at the bottom of Chesapeake since 1911.

A 55-foot yacht, the Moby Dick, snagged on the sunken battleship in rough weather. Yachtmen headed for a buoy which they thought meant safety but instead it was to mark the wreck. The battleship was sunk in naval gunnery practice 46 years ago.

AF Secretary Approves Moving Research Center

WASHINGTON — Transfer of headquarters of the Air Research and Development Command (ARDC) from Baltimore to near Andrews Air Force Base moved a step nearer reality today.

Air Force Secretary James H. Douglas formally approved the move and ordered plans to be drawn by Aug. 1.

The Air Force, announcing yesterday it planned to move the ARDC headquarters during the year beginning July 1, also said headquarters of the Military Air Transport Service (MATS) would be moved out of Andrews to Scott Air Force Base, Belleville, Ill.

The ARDC move will affect about 3,400 members of the military and civilian staff, a spokesman said today. Of the total, 1,600 persons are civilians.

ARDC headquarters has been in Baltimore since January, 1951. It would take 33 days for an airplane to fly to the moon at the speed of 360 miles per hour.

Winchester Mother Named As Withholding City Funds
WINCHESTER, Va. — A for-mer Winchester deputy treasurer, the mother of four children, has been named in a report of city Auditor Robert S. Barbour as withholding $3,116 in city funds.

Barbour's report said when Mrs. Zelma V. Hyatt was confronted with an existing shortage in the treasurer's office "on April 5, 1957, (she) admitted to the Finance Committee and the writer that she had been withholding funds belonging to the City of Winchester."

Barbour's June 6 report covering the period July 1, 1956, to May 1, 1957, was made to City Council's Finance Committee. He said "it is impossible to state definitely whether or not the above total represents in full the funds withheld without authorization. Through the city's formal process of suits on delinquent accounts and other processes, time only will reveal whether any further amounts are involved."

Mrs. Hyatt, in a statement today, said: "I did not use any funds whatsoever for myself. My husband was involved entirely. He started it all. He told me what to do and how to do it. He told me he was going to kill me if I didn't. No charges have been placed against Mrs. Hyatt."

Winchester Mother Named As Withholding City Funds
WINCHESTER, Va. — A for-mer Winchester deputy treasurer, the mother of four children, has been named in a report of city Auditor Robert S. Barbour as withholding $3,116 in city funds.

Barbour's report said when Mrs. Zelma V. Hyatt was confronted with an existing shortage in the treasurer's office "on April 5, 1957, (she) admitted to the Finance Committee and the writer that she had been withholding funds belonging to the City of Winchester."

Barbour's June 6 report covering the period July 1, 1956, to May 1, 1957, was made to City Council's Finance Committee. He said "it is impossible to state definitely whether or not the above total represents in full the funds withheld without authorization. Through the city's formal process of suits on delinquent accounts and other processes, time only will reveal whether any further amounts are involved."

Mrs. Hyatt, in a statement today, said: "I did not use any funds whatsoever for myself. My husband was involved entirely. He started it all. He told me what to do and how to do it. He told me he was going to kill me if I didn't. No charges have been placed against Mrs. Hyatt."

U. S. Children Have Physical Fitness Potential As Much As Any Child In World Today, Doctors State

DETROIT — (INS) — Three education to the Indiana State American youth. prominent physicians believe that Board of Health, and Dr. Arthur He referred to a recent contro-very over the fact that 58 per cent of American youths were un-able to pass a physical test com-pared to eight per cent of the European youth failing it as a "minimum test for trunk strength." The three are Dr. King Mc-Cristal, Chairman of Professional Health, Physical Education and Recreation, Dr. Steinhaus pointed out that educators at present do not know the status of fitness of Dr. Steinhaus pointed out that in some schools the tests showed students equal to the Europeans but added: "The Japanese, however, were superior to the European in the same test. This is apparently because they have shorter legs." The test was the Kraus-Weber test which has six phases, all con-cerned with ability to touch toes, hold legs off the floor and the like. Dr. Steinhaus said the American child is not faced with the same problems as the European, point-ed out that the U. S. is motorized and Europe is not. He added: "The European does far more walking and climbing and, there-fore, in that phase, is more fit." Dr. McCristal pointed out: "We are not concerned with building a nation of musclemen and women. There is more to fitness than just muscles. It is a combination of body, mind and feet." Dr. McCristal pointed out that there is a great difference in program of recreational activities Americans today and Americans a generation back. He said: "A generation back there were many more vigorous activities for all children, such as chopping wood and cleaning out the barn. "We must find a substitute for these activities. We need such things in schools as gymnastics, tumbling and the dance." Tibetans still scratch gold from the earth with gazelle horns.

Eggplant Can Be Adventure

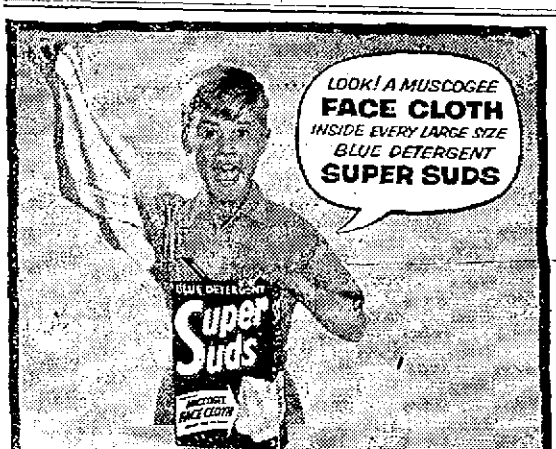

OFTEN OVERLOOKED EGGPLANT is tasty as a main course, especially when stuffed with onion, green pepper or tomato.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

How adventurous a cook are you? Do you regularly use other vegetables besides ubiquitous peas and carrots, snap beans and corn? Eggplant, for instance, do you know how useful it can be as a main course?

We enjoyed eggplant stuffed a variety of ways when, some years ago, we spent several months in Bermuda. The vegetable is abundant there and we often served it stuffed with ham as a main lunch or supper dish. Eggplant's bland flavor takes especially well to onion, green pepper and tomato and so these

Fancy, Pretty Desserts Can Be Easy Job

Desserts are more than just a food, the eating often is second to the enjoyment of admiring their beauty — the dramatic finish to the meal. To make a pretty dessert, even one a bit fancy, no longer overwhelms a homemaker now that the market offers a number of ready-to-use bakery foods.

For pretty, easy desserts there are sponge-cake shells, lady fingers, pound cake, angel-food cake and orange-chiffon cake. Bakers' frosting white or yellow layer cake also can be the basis for gourmet desserts.

It's only a step or two from cake to a glamor dessert. Here apricot nectar is stirred into instant vanilla pudding, to be spooned into sponge-cake shells and topped with sliced almonds and apricots, the whole topped with a tuft of meringue to be lightly browned in the oven.

Apricot Almond Hearts
1 Package instant vanilla pudding
1 cup apricot nectar
6 sponge-cake shells
1/2 cup sliced almonds
6 peeled apricot halves
6 egg whites
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon almond extract

Combine instant pudding and apricot nectar and beat with a rotary beater for 1 minute, or until blended. Allow to stand for 5 minutes to set. Spread pudding mixture in cake shells and top each shell with 2 teaspoons of the almonds. Place an apricot half on top of nuts in each shell. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Blend in sugar and almond extract. Continue beating until meringue stands in peaks. Spread meringue over top and sides of cake shells in a heart-shaped pattern. Place on a cookie sheet and bake in a hot oven (450 degrees, Fahrenheit) for 5 minutes. Yield: Six apricot almond hearts.

Ice Cream Fancied Up With Molasses
Don't despair if that pint of vanilla ice cream has softened on the way home from the store. Now's the time to fancy it up a bit! Blend in 1 tablespoon molasses, stir thoroughly and refreeze. Add a touch of spring with a topping of fresh strawberries.

Oven-Fried Chicken Father's Day Treat

By MARTHA LOGAN
Dad may be taken for granted in good share of the year, but on Father's Day he is the king. In royal style he will be treated to a king-sized feast. Serving plenty of golden-brown fried chicken is a sure way to show him you haven't forgotten his favorite dish.

For such an occasion only the tenderest, meatiest chickens will do. But then these are the kind smart shoppers look for every time they buy chicken. Fortunately there need be no guesswork on this score when you select a chicken tagged with a top packer's brand. Years of research have gone into the breeding and raising of these tenderest and sparkling clean plants, bringing the tender, plump chickens to market in a fresher, finer condition.

Crisp and tasty fried chicken may be Dad's favorite, but for chances are that the rest of the family also go for it in a big way. Another 30 minutes, or until to be sure Father gets all he can tender.

Crispy Frank Salad Offers Fine Fourth Of July Fare

By MARTHA LOGAN
Frank's and Fourth of July meals are made for each other. Even if a cookout is not on your schedule, this popular food is a welcome addition to whatever menu plans are under way. A crisp, cool salad, for example, takes an added appeal when pennywise slices of frankfurters are combined with crunchy vegetables, poppy seasonings, and a smooth, salad dressing. Its a tasty combination perfect for pot luck meals and back porch buffets.

Tender, flavorful frankfurters are ready to eat when purchased. Selecting them by brand name assures you of highest quality and greatest eating pleasure. One well-known packer makes them fresh daily in nearby kitchens. To be certain that the frankfurters reach homemakers in the peak of goodness. After purchase the frankfurters should be stored covered in the refrigerator and used within 3 or 4 days. The original transparent wrapper is excellent for the refrigerator storage.

Besides salads, frankfurters cut in pennywise fashion are so handy to use that you will find a variety of ways to take advantage of their popularity. They add flavor and meaty goodness to casseroles served as the important "one-hot dish" for summer meals. Bean and tomato soups are just two of the many kinds which may be served with frank slices bobbing temptingly on the surface. However served, frankfurters add pleasure and food value to the meal.

Crispy Frank Salad
Yield: 4 to 5 servings.
5 (1/2 pound) frankfurters
1 small head cabbage, shredded
1/2 cup chopped cucumber
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
1/4 cup chopped celery
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Fast Salad: Just Slice 'N Stuff

SUMMER SALAD—Fill sliced tomatoes with delicious cottage cheese and a dry salad mix.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Warm weather spurs cooks onto experimenting with salad combinations. So if you feel an adventurous urge coming on you, here are some ideas that may be new to your kitchen.

Instead of hollowing out tomatoes and stuffing them, slice each into sixths (but not all the way through) and put the stuffing between each slice so you have a pretty fan shape. You can use any stuffing you like. The following salad recipe suggests cottage cheese, but hard-cooked egg mashed and moistened with salad dressing is delicious. So is chicken or tuna salad used this way.

In the following salad recipe, we've added a dry salad dressing mix to the cheese to season it. Use the rest of the salad dressing mix to add to oil and vinegar when you are preparing tossed greens: 1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon of the mix should be enough for a salad for four.

The dry salad dressing mix we suggest for this recipe comes in an envelope and contains spices and herbs, salt, sugar and the protein derivative called monosodium glutamate.

SUMMER TOMATO SALAD
Ingredients: 8 ounces (1 cup) cream-style cottage cheese, 1 to 1 1/2 teaspoons American-style dry French salad dressing mix, 1/4 cup finely diced peeled cucumber, 4 small or 3 medium-size ripe tomatoes, water cross.

Method: Mix the cottage cheese, salad dressing mix and cucumber together. Cut stem end from each tomato and place cut side down on slicing board. Cut each tomato into sixths, being careful not to slice all the way through. Pull the usual mixture of diced cooked chicken, diced crisp celery and mayonnaise by adding cooked green peas and cooked rice. Use the converted-type of rice so the kernels will be firm and whole.

Lancashire Salad—Delicious with cold ham or other meats: sliced oranges, sweet onion rings, romaine and French dressing.

Strawberry Dish In Spanish Style
For a simple but spectacular party dessert, soak hulled and lightly sugared strawberries for at least a quarter of an hour in a cup of Spanish sherry, using a sweet oloroso or cream or a nutty amontillado.

Serve with sour cream or whipped cream and glasses of chilled amontillado or oloroso.

You probably know that roast beef should stand about 20 minutes before carving. But did you know that it's a good idea to give baked ham the same waiting treatment?

Try This Jigtime Coffee Cake

ON HAND ITEMS provide the ingredients for these speedily made coffee cakes.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Summer time cooks who want to spend more time outdoors than in the kitchen, may be interested in a jigtime coffee cake to serve with hot or iced beverages. When we tried this recipe recently, we thought it was real good.

One of the virtues of this ersatz coffee cake is that it uses the brown-and-serve rolls many households have on hand. Its filling is made from a pantry-shelf package of condensed mince-meat, a convenient product in both winter and summer. The topping is put together with confectioners' sugar, orange rind and orange juice.

JIGTIME COFFEE CAKE
Ingredients: 1 package (9 ounces) condensed mince-meat, 1/2 cup water, 1/2 cup orange juice, 3 tablespoons sugar, 12 small round (one 8-ounce package) brown-and-serve rolls, 1/2 cup sifted confectioners' sugar, 1/2 teaspoon grated orange rind, 1 tablespoon (about) orange juice.

Method: Break mince-meat into small pieces in saucepan; add water, 1/2 cup orange juice and 3 tablespoons sugar. Break up lumps with a spoon or fork as you bring mixture to a boil. Boil briskly for 2 minutes or until mince-meat is almost dry. Cool. Arrange brown-and-serve rolls close together in a ring around the inside edge of a round layer-cake pan (9 inches in diameter); place remaining rolls in center of pan. Slash rolls almost to the bottom crust. Spoon mince-meat into slashes. (Leftover mince-meat should be refrigerated in a covered jar for later use.) Brown rolls in oven according to package directions. Mix confectioners' sugar, orange rind and 1 tablespoon orange juice (or more) together; drizzle over rolls. Serve hot with butter.

Oil-And-Vinegar Shrimp Dressing

Use this sauce over a few chilled shrimp as a prelude to a meal, or use it to dress a shrimp salad.

Combine 4 tablespoons of olive oil and 2 of vinegar. Add 1/2 a teaspoon of salt, 2 teaspoons mustard, 6 scallions minced fine, a minced stalk of celery, a few drops of Tabasco and a dash of paprika. Mix well. Pour over boiled, shelled shrimp and let stand in the refrigerator for a few hours. Use for salad or shrimp cocktail.

Fruit Combination

A favorite combination of fruits at this season is pineapple chunks, diced avocado and sliced strawberries. Combine and chill ahead of time to enhance the flavor combination. Serve with dressing or mayonnaise thinned with pineapple.

Garnish For Fish

Sprigs of watercress and carrot curls make a pretty and colorful garnish for a baked stuffed fish. Tastes good with the fish, too.

Stuffed Meat Loaf

Ever stuff a meat loaf with a layer of mushrooms that have been cooked in butter? Nice surprise for eaters.

Carrot Capers

Add color and crispness to the first course by including chilled carrot strips on the hors d'oeuvre dunking tray.

Dad Rules Supreme As Back-Yard Chef

AP Newsfeatures

Whether the menus in your house lean toward ordinary hamburgers or exotic chateaubauds, Dad is a cinch to take over the cooking if you give him a place in the yard to do his work and a handsome chef outfit.

Local sewing center experts suggest that you stitch up a unique apron for Father's Day, to encourage him in the cooking department. Use any commercial pattern, but add a few tricks of your own. Your sewing machine attachments, such as the multi-slotted binder, the hem-stitcher and the buttonholer, as well as the automatic zigzagger, will help you in this project.

Since you will be doing decorative work on this apron, it is best to cut two aprons, using one for a lining, so the inside will be neatly finished. Cut out the apron, then cut two pockets, the top one measuring about eight inches deep and 20 inches long, the bottom one measuring about 10 inches deep and the width of the bottom of the apron.

Use a drapery print to cut out your applique motif. If you look, you can find appropriate designs, such as a motif of shrimp and lobsters, or one featuring cooking utensils. Cut out motifs, allowing an inch extra all around. Baste in place on apron bib. With your automatic zigzagger set for a narrow satin stitch, stitch around the outline of the motifs. Trim away excess fabric close to the line of stitching.

Using the multi-slotted binder attachment, edge both pocket sections with contrasting bias tape. With the buttonholer attachment, make a slot holder for fork or bottle opener in top pocket by stitching two buttonholes, about an inch apart, on the right side of the pocket. Pin pocket in place on apron. Stitch around three sides, leaving top edge unstitched.

Mark top pocket into three equal sections and stitch along dividing lines to make three separate pockets.

On the bottom pocket trace the words Chef Supreme along the lower edge. Without thread in the machine, stitch along the outline of the words to mark with needle holes. Then, working on the wrong side of the pocket, use the underbinder attachment to stitch the words in yarn or braid.

With wrong sides of apron sections facing, lay together and machine baste together. Stitch across the bib first. Then stitch around the sides, catching in sides of lower pocket. Finally, stitch bottom, catching edge of pocket. Leave a loop of stitched bias tape for the neck, and at each side for ties.

For a finishing touch, apply a cooking motif on a chef's cap.

Dessert Suggestion:
Sherried Berries

Fresh fruits are outstanding simple desserts, and when you serve raspberries, huckleberries, strawberries and other fruits, try steeping them for half an hour, or so in equal parts of maple syrup and Spanish sherry, either a nutty amontillado or sweet oloroso or cream. Top with grated lemon or orange rind and serve with glasses of amontillado or oloroso.

BARBECUE KING . . . Dad will be proud of a chef cap and apron, easy to make at home—for Father's Day gift.

Coffee Cake For Dessert

A coffee cake, well fruited and lightly frosted, is a satisfactory answer to family sweet-tooth demands, and makes a tempting dessert at dinner.

The biscuit dough, rolled and patted out, is spread with the mince meat, further enriched with orange marmalade, and then rolled up, jelly-roll fashion, sliced and baked.

The thin frosting is spread or dripped on the cake while it is still warm.

Mince-meat Coffee Cake
3 cups prepared biscuit mix
3 tablespoons sugar
2 1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup orange marmalade
1 1/2 cups mince meat
1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
1 1/2 tablespoons milk or cream
1/2 teaspoon orange extract
Combine biscuit mix and sugar. Add milk, stir to make soft dough. Roll out on lightly floured board into 12-by-10-inch rectangle. Combine marmalade and mince meat, spread evenly over dough to within 1/2 inch of edge. Roll jelly-roll fashion. Cut into ten pieces. Place in a greased 9-inch cake pan, cut sides up, putting nine pieces in ring and one in center. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit) until lightly browned, about 30 to 40 minutes. Remove from pan. Combine sugar, milk and orange extract. Frost cake with mixture while cake is still warm. Makes a 9-inch cake.

The only sure way to tell whether a steak is done is to cut a slit in it.

Beef On 'Special' List, Cabbage Rated Good Buy

By The Associated Press

Even the supermarkets are joining in the merchandising promotion for Father's Day, although their part is mainly in protecting pop's pocketbook.

Beef will be the most popular item in "specials" this weekend, and chuck roast, the least expensive cut of beef, will be prominently featured in many places. In addition, one chain will advertise stuffed turkeys at the normal price for eviscerated birds and another will have small turkeys at the price normally charged for larger turkeys.

Beef Supply Seen Lower
Still another chain will have a special on the round section of a whole beef at 49 cents a pound. People with freezers can get about 70 pounds of steaks, roasts, stew meat and other portions cut to order.

Total supplies of beef, however, are expected to be lower this year than in 1956, while supplies of pork seem to be on their way up. This price is expected to bring eventually higher beef prices and lower tags for pork.

Fresh new cabbages, from New Jersey and Virginia fields in increasing numbers, are rated as the outstanding vegetable buy. The vegetable has been in good supply in recent months with good growing weather in the various cabbage-producing areas.

Also outstanding this week are salt.

radishes, last fall's Maine potatoes from storage bins, Romaine and Big Boston lettuce and both bunched and topped beets. Listed as good buys are snap beans, cucumbers, asparagus, new potatoes from California and South Carolina growing areas, and Eastern iceberg lettuce.

Rhubarb On Bargain List

Rhubarb, still plentiful after a good growing season, again tops the list of bargains at fruit counters. Strawberries from such Eastern centers as New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York are rated as good buys, but these too show variances in quality and condition. Oranges, grapefruit and lemons from Florida, and California's lemons and oranges also are good buys. Cantaloupe is somewhat lower this week, but still figured as a moderate buy.

Small supplies of cherries, apricots, plums and peaches are trickling into market from California, but are in the luxury class in is expected to bring eventually higher beef prices and lower tags for pork.

Religious Census Reveals Figures In Garrett Area

OAKLAND—Some 4,500 persons and 148 indicated a Methodist are residing in Oakland and adjacent communities, the recent religious census conducted by St. Mark's Lutheran Church has revealed. This is almost a fourth of the entire population of the county and is only one of the interesting facts revealed in the census.

The area covered included the towns of Oakland, Mt. Lake Park and Loch Lynn Heights. Second in the classification of the census was the Roman Catholic Church with 370 members here, 15 members in the Deep Creek Lake area and 23 in the Swanton area. Third in the listing was Evangelical Lutheran Church with 353 members here, 90 members elsewhere, and the pastor, Rev. Charles Carlson.

Figures revealed that there were 2,342 members of churches within the area, 516 members of churches outside the community. Jewish, Union, Mormon, Church of Christ, Congregational, Christian, Unitarian, Christian Science, Dutch Reformed, Apostolic, and others indicated a preference for a church, 201 persons, which indicated they had no preference. Seven persons declined to give any information as to their religious affiliation and with some 22 families were not found at home during the visitation.

The census takers found the area heavily populated with people of 35, 4, 7 and 8; Nazarene with 35, 42, 9; United Brethren with 227, 44, 140, 120; Jehovah's Witnesses with 30, 0, 1, 12. Other members elsewhere, 200 others attended Methodist services.

Census takers explained that members of churches in Friendsville, Accident, Red House and Crellin were listed as belonging to churches "elsewhere," and all of the so explained that a person was listed only under one classification so that a person might be a member and attending regularly, but that he was listed only under one member here.

Some 32 affiliations were listed including Dunkard, Mennonite, Pilgrim Holiness, Full Gospel, Four Square Gospel, Adventist, Jewish, Union, Mormon, Church of Christ, Congregational, Christian, Unitarian, Christian Science, Dutch Reformed, Apostolic, and others indicated a preference for a church, 201 persons, which indicated they had no preference. Mineral County Tavern Owner Fined

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — Beer Commissioner R. D. Platt said a Mineral County tavern operator was fined $25 and costs on charges of falsifying his license application—an offense which cost him his license earlier.

Platt revoked the license of Dailey W. Shackey, operator of the Stucco Tavern on the Keyser-Piedmont Road last Thursday.

Shackey was charged with listing his address as West Virginia in his notarized application, while he actually lived in Maryland.

Platt said Shackey was arrested by State Police last Saturday and was fined after pleading guilty before Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzle.

Sizzling Cards Finally Land In First Division

Birds Only Game Out Of Lead; Chisox Trim Yanks

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

The St. Louis Cardinals, rocketing along while the rest of the hotshots fizzled, finally have themselves a spot in the National League's first division—a fourth-place berth that's only a game removed from the lead.

Win Eight In Row

In a week's time, the Cards have won eight in a row, making up 5½ games on the leaders in a rush that's been carried by three pitchers and a couple of old pros named Stan Musial and Del Ennis.

Last night they defeated Philadelphia 4-0 to gain a share of fourth with the fading Phils.

First-place Cincinnati was slugged a third time in succession by seventh-place Pittsburgh, this time in a 4-3, 10-inning decision. That left the Redlegs half a game ahead, five percentage points in front of Milwaukee and Brooklyn, deadlocked for second after the Dodgers put an end to a four-game skid with an 11-9 victory over the Braves.

The New York Giants, with all their runs unearned, defeated the Chicago Cubs 4-3 in the other NL game.

White Sox Pad Lead

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox regained a five-game lead, defeating the second-place New York Yankees 7-6 despite a four-RBI, two-home-run show by Mickey Vernon. Cleveland retained third, beating Boston 6-1. Fourth-place Detroit stopped Baltimore 4-2. Kansas City and Washington split a two-night pair, the A's winning 5-3, then losing 3-2.

Musial and Ennis have batted in 18 of the Cards' 37 runs. Last night Musial singled and doubled, scoring a run, while breaking the league record for consecutive game played set at 822 by Pittsburgh's Gus Suhr from 1931 to 1937.

Raiders Keep Undefeated

Corsairs dropped a pair of matches while Raiders continued undefeated and Lancers posted their second triumph in the Western Maryland Pistol League.

Raiders stretched their unbeaten string to eight by whipping Corsairs, 608 to 547. Lancers took a 681 to 668 triumph in their match against Corsairs.

Jim Guthridge was high for Lancers with a 171 while Harry Ranker had a 187 for Corsairs. Floyd Livengood's 171 topped Raiders with Norman White posting a 176 for Corsairs. Summary:

RECORD-BREAKER CAKE-CUTTER — Stan Musial, center, makes an "okay" sign as he prepares to cut a huge cake to mark the St. Louis Cardinals' first baseman's breaking the National League mark for consecutive games by playing in 823. Musial played last night against the Philadelphia Phillies as the Cardinals won, 4-0, at Connie Mack Stadium. With Musial are shortstop Al Dark, left, manager Freddy Hutchinson, center rear, and pitcher Larry Jackson.

Stan Leading In Ballots For All-Star Role

NEW YORK (AP)—Stan Musial, a veteran of 13 All-Star games, appears well on his way to gaining a starting berth on another All-Star team.

Figures released today by the office of Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick gave Musial more votes than any other National League player in the fan poll.

The star first baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals has drawn a total of 12,465 votes in the poll's first cumulative vote total. Willie Mays, New York Giants' brilliant center fielder, is second with 11,907 votes.

The National League meets the American League in St. Louis July 9, in the 24th All-Star meeting. The American Leaguers lead 13 victories to 10.

The leaders, by positions, follow:

First base — Stan Musial, St. Louis, 12,465.
Second base — Red Schoendienst, New York, 7,508.

Third base — Eddie Mathews, Milwaukee, 6,548.
Shortstop — Alvin Dark, St. Louis, 4,241.

Center field — Willie Mays, New York, 11,907.

Right field — Hank Aaron, Milwaukee, 9,733.
Catcher — Ed Bailey, Cincinnati, 9,677.

Unbeaten Elks Seeking Lead

Elks Club has a chance of taking a half-game lead in the race for first place in the Hot Slove Baseball League this evening at Penn Avenue Field. The Elks will meet winless Exchange Club in the opener of a twin bill at 6:15.

Three teams are still undefeated in the circuit with Rotary and Elks both boasting 3-0 records. Jaycees have won their pair of outings and shoot for No. 3 by taking on Kiwanis Club in tonight's nightcap at 8:15.

Exchange has yet to win for two games while Kiwanis has taken it on the chin in all three of its attempts.

The contest scheduled last night between Rotary Club and Lions at Penn Avenue was postponed because of wet grounds.

Stemple paced his mates with two doubles and a single while five batters shared five singles for the winners.

Musial Now Sets Sights On Eddie Yost's Streak

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—In about a week the St. Louis Cardinals' most valuable, and certainly most popular player, a fellow by the name of Stan Musial, will step to the plate somewhere in a National League Park and another record will be broken.

There will be an announcement over the public address system. The fans, however partisan and in whatever city, will cheer and they'll really mean it. And the sportswriters and announcers will make quite a thing of it.

Everybody, in fact, will be commenting on it. Everybody, that is, but Musial himself.

That's the kind of person he is, this big husky 35-year-old power hitter, infielder, outfielder and all-around nice guy.

Singles First Time
Musial appeared at Connie Mack Stadium last night in his 823rd consecutive game, setting a National League record — and promptly slashed out a single for the first hit of the ball game. The Cards later won, 4-0, from the Philadelphia Phillies.

He's been setting these records almost as long as he's been getting those hits. But the boredom of repetition isn't the reason Stan takes record breaking and other honors in stride. It's just his nature to be the quiet unassuming likeable person that he is.

At a post-game party in the Cardinal club house honoring their favorite teammate, someone asked:

"What's the difference between this game and the first one you ever played?"

"In this one," came the typical Musial reply, "I wasn't nervous."

Photographers asked him to pose over a display of baseballs spelling out the number "823."

"Take a position like you were going to bat," one of them called to the league batting champion many times over.

"Bunt!" he shouted in mock outrage. "I'm no bunter."

Breaks Suhr's Mark
Musial's appearance last night broke a record set by Gus Suhr, former Pittsburgh first baseman, between 1931 and 1937. Stan started his current streak on opening day of the 1952 season.

The genial Redbird now ranks fifth among the all-time iron men of the majors behind the immortal Lou Gehrig, who had a record of 2,130 consecutive appearances. Everett Scott, Joe Sewell and Eddie Yost.

Gehrig didn't miss a game in 13 consecutive seasons and has appeared in 2,192 of his team's 2,229 games since he joined the club 14 years ago.

After Yost's Record
He needs only seven more in a row to pass Yost's record and move into fourth place.

And when he does, it's a safe bet the writers will be after him again for comment on his durability in a game not infrequently marred by sidelining injuries.

And it's more than safe — it's a sure thing — his answer will be as humble as the man is great — something about "good luck," "good fortune" or the "breaks of the game."

Barton Still Undefeated, Raps Finzel

TWILIGHT LEAGUE. W. L. Barton 5 0 Zihlman 1 1 Wright's Cr. 3 3 Finzel 1 1 Midland 3 3 Lonsacoring 1 3

Barton opened the second round of play in the Twilight Baseball League yesterday with a smashing 22-2 rout of Finzel at Barton.

The victory was the sixth for the unbeaten loop leaders.

The pacesetters, who have a two-and-one-half game lead over runner-up Wright's Crossing, slammed 19 hits and scored 14 runs in the fifth inning. Bill Johnson limited the cellar-dwelling Finzel nine to only four safeties.

"Coney Whips Midland
Lonsacoring scored all its runs in the first three innings in defeating Midland, 11-5, behind Jerry-Lancaster's slants. "Bubbles" Thompson relieved "Whip" Wilson in the fourth inning and pitched scoreless ball the final four frames in a losing cause for Midland.

In the third contest in the six-teams circuit Wright's Crossing and Zihlman battled to a nine-inning 4-4 deadlock that was called because of darkness after the second extra frame at Zihlman.

Jack Parker went the distance on the hill for Wright's Crossing while Buck Winfield and Bob Deffenbaugh shared mound duties for Zihlman.

Tom Warnick, Bill Smith, Johnny Johnson, Jim Wilson all collected a two-bagger and a single for Barton's undefeated nine. Bill Johnson struck out six in going the route for the victors. Zihlman contributed seven errors to aid the Barton cause as J. Hansel absorbed the loss.

At Midland Bill Richmond had a double and two singles and Rodney Johnson a single and a two-bagger to pace the Lonsacoring assault. Ray Tagg with a double and single and "Bubbles" Thompson with a two-bagger and single topped the Midland batters. Charley Winters drove in three runs for the losers with a two-base hit and a sacrifice fly.

4-0 Lead Vanishes
Wright's Crossing took a 4-0 lead at Zihlman, but saw the home team rally for three tallies in the third and tie the score in the seventh when Buck Winfield walked, stole second and came home on the catcher's overthrow at second.

Bob Deffenbaugh relieved Winfield on the hill for Zihlman and today with runnerup LaVale Orioles meeting DAV No. 2 at the final six innings. He struck Cressapawn while third-place out 10 batters.

Winfield and Deffenbaugh each had a brace of singles for Zihlman. Villa collected two doubles for Wright's Crossing. The line have split in eight starts.

Maroons and Ellerslie are tied for last place with their 2-6 marks while DAV is a game out of the cellar with three wins for eight attempts.

All three of today's tilts are to begin at 6 o'clock.

Smallest Field Since 1953 Seen Starting In Belmont

NEW YORK (AP)—A field of seven colts, smallest since the great Native Dancer beat five rivals in 1953, appeared to be about the size of it for the 89th running of the $100,000-added Belmont Stakes Saturday.

Narrowing it down further, it looks like a two-horse duel between the Wheatley Stable's Bold Ruler and Ralph Lowe's Gallant Man, plus a battle of skill matching a veteran Belmont combination against a trainer and jockey taking their first stab at the famed classic.

Fitz, Arcaro After Seventh
Trainer Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, 82, and jockey Eddie Arcaro each will be shooting for their seventh Belmont with Bold Ruler. Johnny Nerud, who trains Gallant Man, and his rider Willie Shoemaker have never had a colt in the mile and one-half race.

Nerud said he planned to enter Bold Ruler, another colt owned by Lowe, so actually there will be only six betting interests. Bold Ruler and Gallant Man both were bred overseas by the Aga Khan.

Others Expected
Others expected to be entered officially tomorrow morning are the Greentree Stable's Cohoes, the Cain Hoy Stable's Lucky Dip, a French-bred colt, the D. & M. Stable's Inside Tract, and Mrs. Jules Schwartz's Nah Hiss.

Old Exports Rip Germans By 19-2
Old Exports scored in all but two innings yesterday to wallop Old Germans, 19-2, in a City Softball League game at Stitzer Field. The Knights of Columbus Blue Ribbon Bakery contest was postponed because of wet grounds.

Ken Perdue hurled a three-hitter and struck out nine for the victors who pounded out 20 hits in the easy victory. Leading the Old Exports assault were Glen Wilson and Dave Ritter who accounted for seven of the winners' bingles.

Fred Meeks and Paul Stickley starred in the outfield for the winners with several nice catches.

Mike Lease, Brindle Long and "Pooch" Lewis had the Old Germans' three hits.

The win evened the Old Exports record at 3-3 for the season. Old Germans have now lost three of five games in the five-team circuit.

CHICAGO (AP)—First entry received for the All-American Men's Amateur tournament Aug. 1-4 at Tam O' Shanter is that of Manolo Bernardez of Caracas, Venezuela. He recently won the Venezuelan Open.

Elks are only a half-game away from second place, the BPOmen having bagged five of eight decisions.

All four of today's tilts are to get underway at 6:15.

The league will meet Monday, 8:30 p. m., at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Home to make plans for the all-star game at Stitzer Field Thursday, June 27.

Jimmy Dean Zooms To TV Star Status

Saturday Night Show Starts June 22 After He Tops Garraway

By JACK O'BRIAN
(Distributed by International News Service)

NEW YORK — Show business, one of its nicest citizens in Jimmy Dean. He was a fine musician, but a better human being.

Bob Crosby's daytime TV show, all sink in its channel earlier, has expected if CBS can get its new Jim McKay quiz, "You Are the Jury," in shape by August. "Beat the Clock" got a summer reprieve from its sponsor out "that's all."

The morning Jimmy Dean show (opposite Garraway and edging Dave in the ratings suddenly), is considered so hot it will add a sat. night CBS-TV segment starting June 22.

Sen. Jack Kennedy's "Profiles in Courage" will become a TV series, probably RKO-filmed, suitable, inasmuch as Jack's dad, Joseph P. Kennedy once owned RKO.

It's summer, all right—Mike Stokely's "Pantomime Quiz" returns to TV (CBS) Fri., July 5.

It's been on TV ten years, mostly as a summer sub.

Tony Bennett's suddenly revitalized career brings him back to TV in Gleason's spot June 22. Eddie Cantor will introduce "The Fabulous Irishman" on Playhouse 90 June 27 when that drama, based on the life of Dublin's Jewish Lord Mayor Robert Briscoe, is portrayed by Art Carney, a fine baronet of a boy.

George & Gracie's last Ronnie comes of age in real life by turning 21 in the plot of Gracie's July 1 CBS show.

Talent scouts are trying to locate Doris Allen, whose "Jade" recording of "Penny That Way" and "I Can't Give You Anything But Love" has a few dozen deejays flipping; good singer.

Tex & Jinx take on Britisher Anthony Nutting tomorrow afternoon.

Pat Weaver's new TV "network" is getting things all set to flood the market with "Ding Dong School" merchandise as soon as Miss Francis gets on the air, maybe in Aug.

Barry Sullivan's now filmed TV series "Highbornmaster" has changed its title to "Scott Island." Someone else owned the other title.

Tommy Rettig, getting awfully big for little boy roles, will be joined by little Jon Provost, seven, in "Lassie" this Sept.

Jeanie Carson and her advisers are irate about cancellation of "Honey, Jeannie," just when the perky British lassie was speaking up on Lawrence Welk.

The General Federation of Women's Clubs wouldn't come out against pay-TV.

Eve Arden may change the title of her new "It Gives Me Great Pleasure," situation comedy about a lady lecturer, to "Liza," her name in the series, and also the name of her eldest girl.

Eddie Fisher unloaded Axel Stordahl as conductor of his TV variety. Buddy Bregman gets that difficult baton.

Twenty miles was considered a day's travel in the Middle Ages, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Billy Graham TV Programs May Continue

Two Appearances Show Restraint, Great Sincerity

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Reports circulated that the Rev. Billy Graham may continue regular television appearances after his two remaining Saturday night programs scheduled from New York's Madison Square Garden over the ABC-TV network.

On the basis of his two televised programs from the Garden, one is struck by the extraordinary facility he and his advisers have displayed in bringing an hour's revival service to the medium of television. Technically, it is a smooth production.

The lighting is theatrical in effect, carefully contrasting black and white. The principal camera coverage for the home audience is from a theater box angle, with carefully timed fades into audience and platform closeups. Long shots of the Garden are interspersed dramatically.

The opening music emphasizes the themes of reverence and power; it has none of the syncopation that marked the revivals of such past evangelists as Billy Sunday.

Graham's prayer is notably brief. As a clergyman once told this viewer, "I sometimes think that no one but God listens to a long, rambling prayer—and sometimes I think that even his attention wanders."

Graham's sermon is simply constructed. Saturday he said in effect, "You have sinned... You must repent... You must believe... You can be saved." Compared to the noted evangelists of the past, his manner and delivery are restrained. Graham has said that his restraint is purposeful because he does not wish his personality to divert attention from his message.

Since Graham has consciously selected television as a medium to carry his message, he is in the position of having his religious service judged as a program and himself as a personality. In these respects one can objectively judge his TV appearances from Madison Square Garden as marked by great technical proficiency and he personally as conveying great sincerity.

Religious experience is highly subjective, however. There are viewers, including this one, who are made vaguely uneasy at watching others' religious experiences on the massive communication of the television screen.

We should remember, however, that the adaptation of mass communication techniques to a spiritual cause is not something new in 1957. Spiritual revivalists in all ages have made use of the most recent methods available to them.

Finding the agent's temperature two degrees below normal, she refused his offer, declaring, "I always knew those tax collectors are cold-blooded."

who sorted oranges. Decisions, decisions, decisions!
"My first decision was in the bidding. Should I double five clubs or try for five spades. In rubber bridge I would have doubled but the game was duplicate and I would have to set my non-vulnerable opponents four tricks to make up for the vulnerable game. Hence my five spade bid.
"West opened the king of clubs and East overtook with the ace. I led back the three of spades. Should I finesse or play the ace? I finally decided that West needed the king of spades for his overcall and played the ace.
"The next plays were obvious: ace of hearts, king of hearts and a small heart. West discarded a club and I ruffed in dummy. I led a spade and West was in.
"If he had been kind enough to play a second club I could have ruffed in dummy and discarded my losing diamond but West was as mean as possible. He led the jack of diamonds.
"This gave me one more problem. Who held the diamond queen? I knew West of old and knew that he was an inveterate false carder. That decided me. I won in my hand and finessed against the queen of diamonds in the West hand.
Nine Boys Help With Housework

PORTLAND, Ore. — (INS) — Mothers who find it difficult to get away from the house because "the children make so much work" should have a talk with Mrs. Ralph Malone of Portland, who has nine boys living with her.
She says she gets out more than anyone else in her neighborhood, because her household is well organized.
The nine boys range in age from 11 to 17. The youngest is her own. The others are foster children placed in the Malone home for proper rearing after their own homes collapsed under them, either from divorce or death.
Mrs. Malone thinks the large number in her family makes things easier all around—there's always someone who likes the job that is distasteful to everyone else.
The boys take care of the upstairs in every detail, cleaning, dusting, etc.
And, in addition, they help with the washing, ironing, cooking and other forms of housework.
And that cooking chore could be just that if she didn't get help. For instance, when she peels potatoes for dinner, she peels 10 pounds of them!
And the washing. Last summer she assigned one of the boys to wash all the jeans—for punishment. He finished all 13 pair and then asked if he could do the same the next day—he liked washing jeans!
Mrs. Malone, incidentally, is considered one of the finest foster-mothers in the Multnomah county program. Not one of the boys assigned to her over the last five years has gotten into trouble, although several of them had been problem children before.

Some pecan trees can produce 400 to 500 pounds a year, with the record being 3,000 pounds.

When all cards are tabulated they will be distributed to all the churches as the affiliations indicate. Where persons indicated a preference for a certain church, these cards will be sent to that church, for special action.

Where no church preference is indicated, St. Mark's Lutheran will compile a file of these people and make an effort to interest them in becoming active in the church.

The census is just one of the several activities planned this summer in the evangelism work of the church which will culminate in an evangelism mission August 25 to 30 with meetings each night and concluding with an area rally at the Southern High School gymnasium.

Lutheran churches of the Mt. Top area, including Friendsville, Cove, Accident, Billings, Meadow Mountain, Jennings, Red House, Davis, Aurora, Lantz Ridge, Stemple Ridge, Oakland, Keyser, Westernport and Glade Farms in Preston County are all conducting similar evangelism missions at the same time, and a number of them are also conducting a religious census of their areas.

Hyde Backs Ober Act Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maryland's anti-subversive Ober Act would be restored to full strength under a bill introduced in Congress by Rep. Hyde (R-Md.).

The Sixth District Republican said yesterday his bill would give states the authority to make and enforce their own laws dealing with seditious or subversive acts, but would not prevent federal officials from enforcing the Federal Subversive Activities Control Act.

Hyde said his bill was made necessary by a 1956 Supreme Court ruling which said states could not prosecute for subversion against the United States because the federal law preempts the entire field.

That ruling took the props from under Maryland's Ober Act. Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Syberl said at the time that Maryland could continue to insist on "loyalty oaths" from public employees but could do little else to enforce the act.

Training School Youths Given Advice By McKeldin

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gov. McKeldin today urged inmates of the Maryland Training School for Boys not to "make this just an interlude between troubles with the law."

"I have the hope that you will use your time here as a time for taking stock of your own gifts," he said in an annual June Day address at the reform school at Loch Raven.

"Oh, I know there will be some wise guys waiting for you when you leave here—waiting to have you join with them on more stupid escapades in defiance of the law. But what will that get you?"

"It will get you the empty applause of empty-headed fools who are plunging headlong into lives of misery. It will get you more lost years before you establish yourself in a useful life and a gainful job."

"If you have real courage," he said, "you will show it in turning your backs on those who refuse to conform with the ways of decency. Courage calls for you to return to school or to take a job where you will accomplish something for the good of the community—where you will be headed toward good citizenship and a life without fear of the law."

McKeldin spoke on a theme of "Why Am I Here?" and said it was a good question for all persons to ask themselves.

Applying the question to his own visit to the school, he said it was because it is an important institution in the State of Maryland and he has faith in what it is doing to help boys who are delinquent.

"Above all, I am here because I have faith in you . . .," he said.

"Now why are you here? You have the answer to that—and more important, the answer to where you will be at this time next year."
